Niles, O., March 7.—Mrs. Thomas Hackett, aged 45 years, residing about two miles south of this place, attempted to commit suicide by cutting her throat with a razor.

Reported to be Organizing an Expedition to Regain Territory Lost to Egypt in Recent Years.

Vienna, March 7.—News from Egypt is to the effect that the khedive intends to make his reign brilliant by recovering the Soudanese empire which was lost to Egypt with the rebellion of the mahdi and the fall of Khartoum.

The latest information from the Soudan indicates that an invasion, properly organized and commanded, would not fail of success; that the people are ripe for a change, and that the Egyptians would be welcomed by the masses of the inhabitants as deliverers from an intolerable tyrant.

Mrs. Hahnel Arrested and Released.

Nothing to Come of the Case About Which so Much Ado Has Been Made.

Mrs. Augusta Hahnel, the woman who disposed of her newly born babes by throwing them in the river, as told in the Bee, was arrested by Detective Duffy early Saturday evening. She was held for safe keeping in charge of Matron Stebbins until this morning. None of the other parties implicated were arrested, and no papers were made out in the case, but Mrs. Hahnel was released this morning, and it is probable that the matter will be dropped.

PLACED ON RECORD

Memorial Presented to the Supreme Court

On the Death of Justice Bradley.

Kind Words for the Man Now Dead

Who in Life Caused Wise Men to Differ.

Interesting Proceedings in the Highest Court of the Land—Remarks by Gen. Miller and Chief Justice Fuller.

Washington, March 7.—In the supreme court to-day, Attorney General Miller presented for record the memorial adopted by the bar February 6, upon the death of the late Justice Bradley. In doing so he said:

"These occasions are recurring with painful frequency. In each of the years 1887, 1888, 1889, 1890, and now again at the threshold of 1892, an honored member of this court has been summoned into that presence of inconceivable solemnity, where all must appear at last to answer for duty done or duty neglected. Well may the bar and the courts say they are 'becoming reluctant to grant these their last highest honors.'

"The oldest of 11 children, of puritan New England lineage, Joseph Bradley was born on a farm in Albany county, New York, on the 14th day of March, 1813, and was, therefore, on January 22 last, the day of his death, near the end of his 79th year.

"The means of his parents, who at his birth were only 19 years old, were slender and the circumstances of his childhood and youth were very hard.

"At 16 this boy, with a few advantages, instead of a pupil, became the teacher of a winter school, an occupation continued for four seasons. At twenty, entering the freshman class at Rutgers, with a very meagre preparation in Greek and Latin, at the end of the year he had, nevertheless, made such progress as to jump the sophomore and enter the junior class, and was graduated two years later with the late Secretary Frelinghuysen, Gov. Newell and Courtland Parker, all eminent in the law and in public affairs.

"As a student and as a man, a most striking trait of his character was thoroughness. He studied almost everything, and whatever he studied became his own—a part of his very self."

In receiving the resolutions of the bar, and the address of Attorney General Miller, Chief Justice Fuller speaking for the court, said:

"We receive the memorial of the bar and the address of attorney general as deserved tributes to the eminent man whose labors have illuminated the conclusions of this tribunal and whose gracious presence have been to its members a source of inspiration and fraternal regard for so many years.

We indeed sorrow deeply that we shall see his face no more. The story of the livse fo those who have triumphed over adverse circumstances and by indomitable will and industry attained that greatness and usefulness and fame to which their mental gifts styled them, are always full of interest and instruction, and in portraying the early difficulties surmounted by our departed brother, the attorney general has justly called attention to the impressive lesson taught in that particular by his career, and indicated one of the most striking grounds for the success for which that career was attended.

"The capacity for unremitting intellectual toil was his, accompanied by that power of concentration wherein lies the secret of mastery. He had not only the 'inquiring' but the 'intending' mind. He not only looked into things, but threw himself upon them and possessed himself of them

"In each instance his nature seemed combined to what it worked in, 'like the dyer's hand.'

"Minuteness and comprehensiveness went together.

"If, as has been said, great judges may be divided into those who decide the particular dispute correctly, and those who in doing that, expound the principles which still govern future cases, Mr. Justice Bradley undeniably belonged to the latter class, for his decision in disposing of the matter in hand so explained the reason and the philosophy of the rule applied, as to furnish a guide to the solution of problems to come.

"Taking his seat upon the bench, conversant with every branch of the law, and with a mind filled with the results of brooding over fundamental principles in the vigils of many years, there is no ground for surprise that he has left a lasting impress upon the jurisprudence of his country.

"His opinions from the Ninth Wallace to the One Hundred and Forty-first United States, couched in pure, undefiled English, vigorous but elegant, whether in the great domain of constitutional law, in cases of law or in equity, in admiralty, in patent causes covering the whole field of judicial investigation—whether involving the application of the subtle learning of the common law, or the refined and equitable distinctions of the civil, whether treating of the principles of social order, of civil and political liberty, the basis of forms of government, or the immortal structure of his own, constitute a repository of statesmanlike views, and of enlightened rules in the administration of justice, resting upon the eternal principles of right or wrong, which will never pass into oblivion—an edifice which will remain even though time erase from its cornerstone the name of the architect and builder.

"This is the exceeding great reward of an illustrious magistrate that his work in contributing to the progress and happiness of mankind by the just enforcement of the laws, will last as long as humanity endures."

The resolutions and remarks which have accompanied their presentation will be entered upon the record.

TO BE TRIED IN DUBLIN.

The Case Against Lady Anne Montague.

The Government Feel That an Unprejudiced Trial Could Not be Had at the Home of the Defendant.

Dublin, March 7.—The case of Mrs. Anne Margaret Montague, daughter-in-law of Lord Montague, accused of causing the death of her infant daughter by cruel and inhuman punishment, has been removed for trial to Dublin. This has been done in deference to a feeling that, as a convert to the Catholic from the Protestant religion, she could not get justice in the county of Derry, where the crime was committed, and where the Orange element is very strong.

The Rev. Father McDonald, priest of the parish of Coleraine, asserted from the pulpit that Mrs. Montague was being persecuted on account of her change of faith, and that the protestant local authorities were determined to punish her, irrespective of the merits of the charge and the evidence in support of it.

This allegation was met with indignant denial, but it attracted such wide attention and aroused such feeling that the government felt that the case could not have an unprejudiced hearing in Derry. Hence the decision to remove it to Dublin, where the case will come up at the next assizes.

A CONSPIRACY FAILED.

Mrs. Minnie Platt Being Persecuted by Her Husband.

Brooklyn, N. Y., March 7.—Mrs. Minnie Platt was arrested last evening, charged by her husband, W. H. Platt, a retired naval engineer, with attempting to shoot him when they met on the street.

She claims that a friend of Platt pulled a pistol out of her (Mrs. Platt's) pocket and then called a policeman and had her arrested.

She says Platt has been trying to get her into trouble ever since he failed to get a divorce from her for alleged adultery with a son of ex-Gov. Waller.

Mrs. Platt was arraigned this morning before Justice Walsh. The complainant failing to appear she was discharged.

THE MATCH IS OFF.

Corbett and Choynski Will Not Meet in the Ring.

New Orleans, March 7.—The fact was developed yesterday that the proposed fight between Corbett and Choynski is off.

Their backers, Phil Dwyer and Bud Renaud, by mutual agreement, have resolved to cancel the match and the money was drawn.

This was expected, however, as nothing has been heard from Corbett in regard to the match, though Dwyer telegraphed to him as soon as the money was put up.

WIFE BEATER SENTENCED.

Norwalk, O., March 7.—(Special)—George Hadley, who was arrested Saturday for beating his wife, was sentenced this forenoon, by Mayor Crawford, to 30 days in the Cleveland workhouse and to pay a fine of $15 and costs.

SHOT BY AN OFFICER.

A Striking Parallel to the Deacon Case.

Lieut. Heatherington Becomes a Murderer.

He Kills the Man Who, in Public Opinion, Was Paying Too Much Attention to His Wife.

San Francisco, March 7.—News from the orient of an extraordinary parallel of the Deacon case has reached here. The scene of the tragedy is Yokohama, Japan, and the American husband is Lieut. Hetherington, of the federal navy. The dead Lothario is a wealthy English resident of Japan.

The report brought by the steamer City of Pekin is that George Gower Robinson, a well-known resident of Yokohama, was shot and killed February 13 by Lieut. J. H. Hetherington, of the United States steamship Marion. The latter, it was alleged, was jealous of Robinson's attentions to Mrs. Hetherington. The lieutenant surrendered himself and is confined aboard the Marion.

Robinson, the young man killed by Hetherington, was a young banker. He was born in Yokohama and educated in England. He was very handsome, moved in the best society, and being a well known man about town was extremely popular.

Some time ago he began paying attentions to Mrs. Hetherington, and was so devoted that their intimacy became the gossip of the town. Hetherington told Robinson that he must refrain from seeing Mrs. Hetherington, and that he had better leave town. Robinson promised to obey and went away. In two weeks he returned and became more devoted than ever to Mrs. Hetherington.

On the evening of February 13, Robinson with a friend named Pars was out driving when some one on the road called out for him to stop. Robinson pulled up his team when immediately two shots were fired from a pistol. The first one missed, but the second took effect in Robinson's groin and he fell out of the buggy.

Pars also jumped out and seized Hetherington, who had done the shooting. He soon released the federal officer, who walked away followed by Robinson's native servant, who pointed the shooter out to the police. Hetherington was arrested and placed in jail. Robinson died soon after the shooting.

On account of the prominence of both men and Robinson's great popularity the affair created a great sensation in the colony. Public sympathy is largely with Hetherington. Passengers from Yokohama who arrived on the steamer state that it was common report that Robinson had been unduly intimate with Mrs. Hetherington.

Mrs. Hetherington sailed from San Francisco last October on the steamer China to rejoin her husband. She is about 24 years old and has one child, a year old. She is a handsome, stylish-looking woman. Her maiden name is not known here, but her father is a prominent citizen of Wilmington, Del. Mrs. Hetherington spent last summer at Marine Villa, Cape May.

Robinson on his death bed denied that had been criminally intimate with her and said that he had been merely carrying on a flirtation.

The Yokohama papers give only meager details of the shooting and the result of the inquest is not stated. Hetherington is said to be considerably older than his wife, and was an intimate friend of her father before he married her. Lieut. Hetherington was appointed to Annapolis Naval academy from Iowa in 1874 and was promoted to a lieutenantcy in October, 1890. He lived at Wilmington some time and there met the woman who is now his wife, Mrs. Hetherington is one of four sisters, the other three still residing in Wilmington.

Creates a Sensation in Dubuque.

Dubuque, Ia., March 6.—The telegram from San Francisco announcing the killing of a prominent citizen of Yokohama by Lieut. J. H. Hetherington of the United States war ship Marine of the Atlantic squadron, created a sensation here.

Lieut. Hetherington is a native of Dubuque. He entered the naval academy at Annapolis in 1874, graduated with high honors in 1878, was at once assigned to duty and has been in active service ever since. Three years ago he married a Miss Hughes of Wilmington, Del. Last summer she visited the lieutenant's relatives here and was thought to be very charming in manner and person. After leaving there she joined her husband and has been with him ever since.

Dr. Vincent, the attending physician, is very hopeful of the patient's recovery.

CANADA TAKES THE LEAD.

New Revenue Boats for the Lakes.

The Present Craft Are Not Up to the Time.

Secretary of the Navy Tracy Touches on a Lake Navy and How it Could be Brought Into Life.

Ottawa, Ont., March 7.—Two new light steel revenue cutters are about to be placed on the upper lakes by the Dominion government for the protection of the fisheries in those waters from depletion by the use of gill and pound nets, both of which are illegal. It was suggested that the old vessels should be removed and replaced by new boats of light draught and built for speed. One of the new boats will be placed on Lake Superior and the other on Lake Huron, the old boats on these lakes being commissioned for coast service on the Gulf of St. Lawrence for preventive work in connection with smuggling by Frenchmen from the Miquelon and other islands. There will be no violation of old treaties in any way.

Tracy on the Subject.

New York, March 7.—In an interview with Secretary of the Navy Tracy, published here, these passages occur:

"Does it ever occur to you, Mr. Secretary, that on our great lakes, where we have so many large and growing cities, we are next to defenseless?"

"That is in accordance with treaty regulations which prohibit either the United States or Canada from keeping more than one war vessel on the lakes, and that one of very little account in these days. I do not know that it would be necessary to alter this state of things. Hitherto it has worked very well for both countries. If we were to increase our armament on the lakes, the other side would do the same. I think, however, that the treaty should be extended to embrace the St. Lawrence river as well as the lakes, for now British warships come into the St. Lawrence, and they can lie close to the entrance of the Welland canal, and they might pass through suddenly in the case of a quick springing up of war, as wars in these days happen. Congress alone has the power to declare war. The president can't do so. He might exert an illegal power under great provocation, but that is not probable. If the British, under the treaty, would keep the lower St. Lawrence clear of their war ships we would have less apprehension about the upper lakes."

"Mr. Secretary, what do you see hanging over this country to give us apprehension?"

"I see nothing but a disputed presidential election to give us alarm. If we ever come to that we may find ourselves instantly in the situation of the South American republics, whose rock of shipwreck has been disputed presidential elections."

"What is the remedy in this country against such disputed elections?"

"Nothing but public opinion sustaining the sanctity of the suffrage."

"The sanctity of the suffrage has been blasphemed a good deal in all directions of late?"

"Yes, and when that is general we are already South Americanized. Counting the vote, then setting it and its sanctity aside, are the menaces of our system."

TO SAVE HIS VICTIM.

Peculiar Case Reported From Georgia.

A Doctor Shoots a Man in a Quarrel and Then Tries Hard to Undo the Damage.

Columbus, Ga., March 7.—Dr. M. W. Peek, of Chattahooche county, is in jail charged with the murder of M. A. Thomas, a neighbor. The men quarreled on Tuesday of last week about a fence which separated their property. Thomas finally started toward the doctor with an open knife, but Peek was too quick for him, drew a pistol and shot him in the right side. While awaiting the arrival of the physicians, Dr. Peek gave Thomas medical attendance.

When Thomas was removed to his home he refused the aid of other physicians that had been summoned, expressing more confidence in the skill of his assailant. Peek worked hard to save Thomas' life, but failed, and the latter died yesterday.

THE PITTSBURG & WESTERN

The Receivership to be Hotly Contested.

The Railroad People Claim a Snap Judgment Was Taken, to Which They Object.

Upper Sandusky, March 7.—(Special)—The Pittsburg, Akron & Western railway receivership matter is up before the common pleas court here again to-day, and the attorneys for the road are making a desperate effort to have the appointment of Walter Ritchie revoked.

They claim that a march was stolen on them Saturday, and that they were arranging to settle all claims against the road at the time the appointment was made.

They further assert that they were given until the 21st inst. by the court to adjust matters, and that the continuance was set aside without warning.

Several officials of the road are here, and the outcome of the case is awaited with intense interest.

RIOT AT A PRIZE FIGHT.

If One is Tolerated Why Not the Other?

Over Two Thousand People Witness a Bloody Battle which Was Won on a Foul.

Sioux City, March 7.—Over 2,000 persons crossed the pontoon bridge yesterday afternoon to witness the lightweight fight between Billy O'Donnell, of St. Paul, and Patsy Magner, of Yankton.

The former fought at 132 pounds and the latter at 122. O'Donnell was very cautious in the first six rounds, but after that he had everything his own way. Round after round he rained blows upon Magner's face, cutting it at nearly every blow till the eighteenth round, when Magner received 12 stinging blows in the face and chest which left him weak and groggy.

In the nineteenth round Magner had hardly come to the scratch when he was quickly knocked insensible by a blow in the neck, but as he hung over the ropes O'Donnell struck him again, whereupon the fight was given to Magner on a foul.

A riot ensued, but the referee managed to make his escape.

KILLED IN A WRECK.

Two Deaths Caused by a Train Running Without Orders.

Baltimore, Md., March 7.—The Chicago express which left Camden station at 7:15 last night, collided at 8:45 p. m. with an extra freight train bound east, at Rockville.

Fireman Buckaloo, of Cranberry, and Brakeman Featers, of Martinsburg, Va., were killed, and Engineer Peters, of the express, and an express messenger slightly injured. No passengers were hurt.

The accident was caused by the freight leaving the siding.

H. J. CULLEN DEAD.

New York, March 7.—Henry J. Cullen, a well known lawyer in Brooklyn, and a brother of Judge M. Cullen, of the supreme court in that city, died at 8 o'clock this morning.

He was a partner in the law firm of Wingate & Cullen, and for years has held a prominent place among the democratic leaders in Kings county. He was about 50 years old.

MONEY FOR THE FAIR.

The Bill Was Introduced This Afternoon.

Special Provision Made for the Payment.

A Long Document That Will Prove of Vast Interest to the Entire People of the Country.

Washington, March 7.—The bill providing for additional appropriations for the world's fair was introduced in the house to-day by Representative Durborow, the chairman of the committee on the World's Columbian Commission.

Incorporate in the bill, in addition to the amounts desired for completing the work on the buildings and grounds at Chicago and for the expenses of the national commission, is a clause making an appropriation of $500,000, the amount required for the fiscal year 1893, for the purpose of collecting and preparing the government exhibit for the fair.

This is the amount which Acting Secretary Spaulding has recommended be appropriated for the purpose.

A long preamble to the bill refers to the act of congress providing for the holding of the fair, recites that fifty-nine foreign nations have formally accepted invitations to participate therein, that the site required for the exposition has been furnished and accepted by the world's fair commission and more than $10,000,000 provided for, as required by the act of congress, and that the work of preparation has progressed in a manner satisfactory, on a plane and scope creditable to the people of the United States.

The preamble further recites that the rapid growth and development of the industrial arts and applied sciences, and the universal interest felt and taken in said exposition by the people of the several states and territories of the United States and the foreign nations of the world rendered it necessary to determine a plan and scope of said exposition, and to construct larger buildings and provide more extended facilities for its accommodation than have been necessary in any previous exposition, involving, according to careful estimates, a necessary expenditure of not less than said $8,000,000 in excess of the $10,000,000 available under the act of congress, and that the people of the United States have patriotically inaugurated and given pledge to carry forward said enterprise to success in a manner commensurate with the importance of the event with the dignity and honor of the nation, which can only be accomplished if congress shall render such financial aid under said act as the people of the United States may of right demand.

Section 1 of the bill appropriates $5,000,000 for the purpose of defraying the expense and cost of completing in a suitable manner the work of preparation for inaugurating and holding the fair at Chicago.

Section 2 authorizes the president of the United States to detail a disbursing officer of the United States to disburse the money appropriated in the bill, no part of the money to be paid out except for work done and material furnished in preparing and completing the grounds and buildings, for installing exhibits, and the inauguration and holding of the fair. Payment is to be made only upon estimates made by the chief of the bureau of construction of the world's fair, approved by the committee having charge of the grounds and buildings, and certified by the president and secretary of the exposition.

Section 3 requires monthly reports to be made to the secretary of the treasury showing the amount of money expended during the preceding month. At the close of the exposition a statement of all receipts and disbursements by the World's Columbian Exposition shall be filed with the secretary of the treasury. Out of the net amount received into the exposition treasury as the result of the exposition there is to be paid to the secretary of the treasury of the United States such proportion of the amount received into the treasury of the exposition as the amount appropriated by this act bears to the amount which has been subscribed and paid or may hereafter be contributed and paid by the stockholders and by the city of Chicago for the preparation, completion and conduct of said exposition. Such payment to the secretary of the treasury is to be made at such times and in such installments as are made to the shareholders and the city of Chicago.

In order to provide for the expenditures incident and necessary to the discharge of the duties imposed upon the world's Columbian commission under the act, section 4 appropriates $1,050,000. Of this amount $700,000 is to be expended to pay the judge and examiners and all the necessary incidental expenses of the committee on awards; $200,000 for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the meetings of the world's fair commission, the salaries of the necessary officers and all expenses connected with and necessarily incident to the admission of foreign goods to the exposition; $25,000 for the payment of the deficiency in the expenses of the world's fair commission for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1892, and $125,000 for the expenses of the board of lady managers for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1893.

Section 5 appropriates $60,000 for the manufacture of dies and medals and $43,000 for the engraving of diplomas, both of which sums are to be paid out of the $700,000 mentioned in section 4.

The amount appropriated by section 4 is to be disbursed on vouchers approved by the board of reference and control of the national commission and by the president and secretary thereof. Payment is to be made on vouchers submitted in duplicate, one copy to be filed with the secretary of the treasury and one to be preserved by the national commission.

IN THE HEART OF A CITY.

Kansas City Police Hunting for an Unknown Fiend.

Kansas City, March 7.—Last evening while Lydia Throsell, a servant in the house of Mr. Patterson Stewart, at Fifteenth and Prospect avenue, was on her way home she was accosted by an unknown white man. The girl tried to run away but was seized by the man who drew a dirk knife, and threatening to cut her throat, forced her to leave the thoroughfare and enter an alley where he outraged her person. The police are working on the case but have but a meagre description of the villain.

OF INTEREST TO TOLEDO

Mr. Griffin's Bill for More Engine Houses.

Street Improvement Case in the Supreme Court.

The Bi-Monthly Pay Law to be Tested in the High Court—General Columbus Happenings.

Columbus, March 7.—(Special)—Representative Griffin is preparing a bill authorizing Toledo to issue bonds of from $60,000 to $100,000 for the purpose of erecting more fire engine houses.

If the bill meets the approval of the citizens he will push the same to passage.

Mr. Griffin says the Bee is in favor of it, and therefore the people must need more fire protection.

Street Improvement Case.

A case was filed in the supreme court this morning by the city of Toledo vs. Legrena Lewis. She recovered $5,000 in the lower court on account of damage by a street improvement on Oak street. The city brings the case up to the supreme court.

To Protect the Public.

Representative Pudney this afternoon introduced a bill requiring street railways to place guard rails, or frames, around the trucks of cars. The penalty for failure is fifty dollars, the money to go to the use of the municipal corporation.

Bi-Monthly Pay Day.

A motion was filed in the supreme court this morning by Attorney J. M. Williams, of Cleveland, for leave to file a bill of exceptions to the common pleas court of Cuyahoga county, in the case of the state against the Lake Erie & Western railroad company.

This suit involves the constitutionality of the bi-monthly pay law of the state.

The case was originally brought at the instance of State Shop Inspector McDonald and the company was indicted for failing to pay employes. They demurred to the indictment and it was sustained.

STOPPED BY THE POLICE.

A Riot a Leipsic Nipped in the Bud,

But the Spirit of Discontent Keeps Gnawing.

The Poorly Paid and Idle Workmen Continue to Congregate in the Streets and Alarm the Throne.

Berlin, March 7.—Several arrests were made to-day of persons who were engaged in yesterday's disturbances at Leipsic. Great discontent prevails among the working classes of that city, especially those engaged in wool spinning, although the leaders in Sunday's attempted outbreak are said to have been employes of the great Leipsic publishing houses, which is the leading industry of the place.

The workingmen in the book business have for a long time been dissatisfied with wages and treatment, and as they are generally more intelligent and better informed than the tradesmen in other lines they are usually looked up to as leaders in any popular movement.

The socialist element is very strong among them, and they are continually agitating more or less activity in favor of the socialist party.

There are also in Leipsic a good number of extremists, who look to revolution as the only remedy for popular wrongs.

Of the crowd that gathered in the market place the majority were wool spinners, led by printers and book-binders. They were not at first interfered with, but when one of the speakers spoke of royalty as bearing down too heavily on the people, and therefore not to be tolerated, the police thought it time for action.

They marched in force to the market place, pressing the crowd back, without having to use their weapons. The workingmen seemed at first stubborn and apparently inclined to resist, but concluded to retire without violence. To-day the police are out in force, and the street are quiet.

STABBED BY A WOMAN.

She Drove a Butcher Knife Into the Breast of a Man.

New York, March 7.—William McGinn was fatally stabbed by Mary Himpler in Brooklyn. The two were visiting at the house of Mrs. Mary Wiegand, No. 165 Siegel street, where, it is said, a quarrel began. Miss Himpler seized a big knife and drove the blade through McGinn's breast.

The injured man was taken to a hospital, where he died shortly after his arrival. Miss Himpler, who is 23 years old, was arrested. She refuses to make a statement.

DYING FROM HIS WOUNDS.

The Sad Case of a Bryan Rag Picker.

The Old Man Made a Will for the Benefit of the People Who Are to Bury Him.

Bryan, O., March 7.—(Special)—Patrick Murphy, an old man who has lived alone in Bryan for several years, and who has made a living buying rags, rubber, metal, etc., and selling tinware, is lying at the point of death.

A month ago some person or persons supposing the old gentleman had money about his person, made an assault with intent to rob and kill. The old gentleman resisted the assault as much as possible for a man of his age to do, but was overpowered and badly bruised, and at the time it was thought could not live.

A few days ago he made his will, which consisted of $100 in bank, team of horses, wagon, tinware, etc., to Bryan parties, they to pay his burial expenses.

Murphy lived for a long time in an old abandoned barn in Bryan. He was harmless as a child. Soon after the assault a well known local tough was missing, and rumors are that others equally as tough are still in the city. It is evident that the assaulters intended to kill him from the fact that coal oil was saturated about his clothing and he was left unconscious.

WHY IT WAS SENT.

Something Interesting in Ohio Politics.

The Reason Senator John Sherman

Denounced Boss Rule in the Buckeye State.

He Saw Harrison's Popularity Waning.

Inside Gossip Concerning the Wheels Whose Workings Show the True Iuwardness of Republican Scheming in a Great State.

Columbus, March 7.—(Special)—John Sherman's letter roasting the Hamilton county republicans is very like a kaleidoscope, and shows a different colored interpretation whenever a new side light is turned on.

To arrive at its true meaning it is necessary to understand several peculiar phases of Ohio republicanism which have developed since the close of the senatorial campaign.

Those shrewd politicians who have suspected that Sherman's deliberate intent in writing the letter was to sow dissension, or rather aggravate the present dissension in his party, were probably not far from wrong. If such is the case however, it is by no means certain that the Sherman-Harrison combine will not find itself wounded by the explosion of its own petard, for both Sherman and Foraker republicans are so incensed over the inopportune and apparently malicious letter that they are likely to pool issues for the purpose of getting sweet revenge on the venerable statesman and his distinguished following.

To a man up a democratic tree, with the opportunities for observation which are afforded here in the capital city, it looks very much as if Harrison, Sherman et al. were suffering because of McKinley's rapidly developing strength as a presidential candidate.

It may not be generally known, but it is none the less true, that there has been a vast Harrison machine organized and operated in Ohio ever since the night John Sherman was elected to the senate.

Indeed, the ground plans of this administration machine were laid early in the senatorial campaign and perfected as the work of electing John Sherman progressed.

Dan Ryan was in it, Wm. Hahn was in it, W. B. Smith was in it, and a whole horde of lieutenants like Jake Donaldson were in it to the extent of their limited abilities.

Joe Smith, of Toledo, was admitted to the ground floor of the combine.

The headquarters of the Harrison combine have never been removed from the rooms which Sherman used as his headquarters during the senatorial campaign, and up in room 3 on the second floor of the Neil house, the Harrison people have been directing the operations of the presidential machine more quietly but on a smaller scale than did the Sherman people during December and the early part of January.

Joe Smith, commonly known as "old figers," Jesse Warwick, who, although of Ohio nativity, has been living in Washington ever since he fell into the good graces of John Sherman, and Ed Archer have been keeping warm the chairs and beds vacated by the glittering and expensive array of federal office holders who decamped at the successful conclusion of Sherman's senatorial campaign.

In the last eight weeks more than 5,000 letters have been prepared and sent out from this Harrison headquarters. These figures, by the way, are authentic, and come from one of the members of the combine through an inadvertant slip of the tongue.

Now, this "Room Three," which is destined doubtless to play a leading part in the coming Ohio campaign, drifted so easily and naturally from a Sherman to a Harrison headquarters, and is now so noticeably occupied and directed by members of the Sherman force, as to excite some curious comment.

Little by little the true facts are becoming known. No one supposed, of course, at the time that Harrison was devoting his energies and his expensive office holders to Sherman's service without hope of some personal reward, but few persons suspected at that time what has since developed, that there was doubtless an explicit understanding between your Uncle John and your Uncle Ben as to the nature of that reward.

"At that time it was not supposed that there would be any question about Sherman's ability to deliver the goods.

Blaine's withdrawal and McKinley's sudden prominence as a presidential candidate, however, have put an entirely new aspect on the Ohio situation.

The Foraker people at once began booming McKinley, who was known to be friendly to Sherman and the Sherman people, and who, therefore, could not consistently be opposed by the element which was opposing Foraker and his followers.

This, perhaps, was the shrewdest move which the wily ex-governor or his astute lieutenants have ever made on the Ohio political checker board. State pride, a desire for party harmony, the overshadowing importance to the republican party of McKinley's tariff views and theories of finance made him apparently the one man upon whom the Ohio republicans could unite.

Thus, instead of Sherman resting secure in his ability to deliver the Ohio delegation to Harrison, the venerable statesman sat in Washington and saw his chances like the sunbeams pass him by.

Like the Lady of Shallott, he sat and suffered in silence, agonizingly twining his long thin fingers in his frosty hair, and at last opened the vials of his wrath and poured out a burning torrent on the fellows who had outwitted him. That John Sherman, who was the head of a vast republican machine when George Cox wore long dresses, and Foraker was yet in his baby clothes, should have any conscientious scruples about machine methods in politics is not for a moment to be supposed. He saw that republican harmony was dangerously probable to supplant republican dissension and thus enable McKinley to capture the Ohio delegation.

Prompt action was necessary, and your Uncle John, grasping the bull by the horns, dictated and forwarded a letter which he fondly hoped would eternally "bust" Ohio republican harmony and cause the McKinley boom to collapse like a punctured soup bubble. That is doubtless the true inwardness of Sherman's letter.

The first quarter you spend should be for a vial of Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Why? Because that feeling of dullness with debility or headache means that your liver isn't doing its part. One of these little Pellets does the right thing in the right way.

They cleanse and regulate the liver, stomach and bowels—thoroughly and effectively, but mildly and gently. They persuade, rather than force. One tiny, sugar-coated Pellet's a gentle laxative; three to four act as a cathartic. They're the smallest, but the best. There's less to take, but there's more good in it, when it's taken. They're the original Little Liver Pill, and they've never been equaled. Sick and Bilious Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels, are prevented, relieved, and cured.

They're the cheapest pill you can buy, because they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned.

MRS. BLAINE, JR., AT HOME

Touching Scene on the Depot Platform.

The Wronged Wife Will Try to Earn a Living and Educate Her Son.

New York, March 7.—When the train that was to bring young Mrs. Blaine from Chicago drew into the Grand Central station Col Nevins, Mrs. Blaine's father, was standing on the platform.

Mrs. Blaine was not to be seen. Col. Nevins waited 10 minutes after all had departed. He could not understand it at all.

Far down the stone platform there flashed a pair of yellow leather leggings. That was the youngest Blaine. There could be no doubt about it. Col. Nevins started down the platform.

"Grandpa, grandpa," shouted the little chap, as he broke away from his mother and nurse. He ran towards the colonel, and leaped into his arms.

Then Mrs. Blaine came up, with her painful, halting steps, and greeted her father. She wore a cream-colored cloth jacket and a natty little hat.

She looked very wan and tired. There were lines of suffering in her face. Her mouth was drawn, but her eyes burned brightly with her old fire.

"No, no; I cannot talk now. I have made up my mind not to say a word. I have not opened my lips to a reporter since I left Dakota.

"Oh, those Chicago newspaper men! It is an outrage the way they spoke of interviewing me. I never saw one of them.

"There is much to say, but not now. In my letter to Mr. Blaine I said I would give him 10 days in which to publish the letters, and that I would say nothing in the meantime. I intend to keep my word.

"I thought all the trouble and worry was over, all the notoriety past; that I had suffered all that I would be called upon to suffer. They have been cruel, cruel. I feel as I had lost everything I have on earth—everything except my boy."

Then she stepped into the carriage with her son and father, maid and nurse following them. They were driven directly to the New York hotel.

Mrs. Blaine has made no plans for the future. She says she has not the faintest idea what she will do, but she is determined that she will make a livelihood for herself and her boy.

Before she went to Dakota, in January, she said she might go back on the stage if her lameness did not interfere. Daniel Frohman had told her that if she was able to do so, he was willing to carry out the old contract between them.

She also considered the advisibility of taking up writing, for which she has more than the ordinary talent.

TO BLOCK HILL'S GAME.

Combination of Democrats in Washington

Who Favor a Western Man for President

In the Event That Grover Cleveland Cannot be Nominated—The Hill Machine is Unpopular.

Washington, March 7.—For the past two weeks western and southern members of congress have been seriously discussing the propriety of forming an organization for the purpose of booming a western candidate for the presidency. The idea behind the organization is that if Hill is to be beaten a western man must do it. Now, whatever reports may be sent to the country to the contrary, there is no doubt a majority of the democrats of both houses of congress are unqualifiedly opposed to the nomination of Hill.

Hill's machine is active, undoubtedly, and becoming more active and better organized daily, but all the same a majority of the democrats in both houses of congress are opposed to him, and for this reason certain southern and western men who are earnestly in favor of keeping tariff reform well to the front are organizing to nominate a western man in the event of it being considered impolitic to nominate Cleveland, because of the New York row, when the convention meets.

There is a tired feeling on the part of the democrats at the idea of a combination between New York and Georgia to control the democratic delegates in the United States. Senator Colquitt, of Georgia, is now one of the most earnest advocates of Hill's nomination. Colquitt is a puritanical prohibitionist and preacher, while Hill's strength in New York, according to common report, is chiefly confined to the sallons, brewers and whisky dealers. The union of Colquitt with the Hill followers in New York is described as John Randolph once described the union between John Quincy Adams and Henry Clay, as a union of the puritan and the blackleg.

It is understood that Parson Colquitt expects to be secretary of state in the event of Hill's election, while Dick Crocker, of Tammany Hall, is booked for the secretaryship of the treasury. Hill will start for Mississippi in a little while at the head of a great moral show, and he will swing from Jackson to Savannah, making stops at Atlanta, and expects to make short speeches at all the way stations from Atlanta back to Washington. Agents are now at work trying to induce delegations to meet Hill at the way stations with vocal and instrumental enthusiasm.

The opponents of Hill, observing these preparations of the launching of an immense boom in the south, are organizing to offset it by paving the way for a western man. From present appearances the two western men who are most thought of by the democratic leaders are Morrison and Boies. This western movement, however, is not in the interest of any one man, but it is for the purpose of concentrating upon the most available man when the clans meet in convention in June and talk the matter over.

The Hill movement is not as strong here in Washington as it was a week or ten days ago. The democratic reverses in New York at the late municipal and county elections called sharp attention to the fact that the people of New York did not altogether approve of Mr. Hill's methods. There is still an enormous undercurrent in favor of Cleveland's nomination, but there is also a strong fear that it would be dangerous to nominate Cleveland, and equally dangerous to nominate Hill, in view of the feud existing between the followers of both men in New York state. New York democrats, familiar with the state of affairs in their state, and who are not particularly prejudiced against Hill or Cleveland, declare here daily that a western man having no connection with the New York factions would run better in that state than any New York man, who was bound to be identified in some way or another with the faction fight in that state.

The Bosses Fear Morrison.

There is no disguising the fact that the Boies sentiment is growing here very strongly; nearly everybody admits that if Colonel Morrison receives the vote of Illinois he would be nominated. The belief is also strong that it would be much easier to elect Morrison than to nominate him. There is no doubt at all that Mr. Hill, Mr. Gorman and Mr. Brice, who seem to be pulling together more or less in the interest of eastern control of the party are afraid of the western men. The developments of the western movement among the members of congress is being watched with attention and interest by Hill and Gorman, and it is unnecessary to say that they are doing their level best to discredit it from the start. It is understood that nearly all the Missouri, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin and California democrats in the house have entered the western movement, as it is called, and that many individual members from southern states, especially of the western tier of southern states, have engaged in it also.

AFTER THE CORDAGE TRUST

A Government Investigation is on Foot.

The Right of a Combination to Corner and Boost Prices Out of Sight Will be Tested.

Chicago, March 7.—The powerful machinery of the government, which worked so well in securing indictments against the whisky trust officials, has now been set in motion to destroy the cordage trust, which has been boosting prices with a high hand lately.

Charles M. Horton, the representative of the department of justice, who swore out warrants for the arrest of President Greenhut and other whisky trust officials last week, has been investigating the methods of the cordage trust in this city for several days.

Mr. Horton's investigations while here have been conducted in a very secret manner, but partial facts leaked out this morning.

The cordage combine operates its factories altogether in the east and has headquarters in Boston and New York. The facts which Mr. Horton has secured will be laid before the federal grand jury at Boston, New York, or Philadelphia.

What evidence Mr. Horton secured while in Chicago is not known. District Attorney Milchrist admitted with great reluctance that Mr. Horton had been investigating the cordage trust, but he said he didn't care to make any statement of the case, as a premature publication of the facts would injure the government's case.

BROWN AND BULL

To Lead the Rhode Island Republicans.

A Slate All Fixed Up and the Delegates Will Only Have to Endorse It.

Providence, R. I., March 7.—D. Russell Brown, the man whom the republicans have decided to nominate for governor at their state convention on the 15th inst., is a well known merchant. He is at the head of the firm of Brown Brothers & Co., mill supplies, with a large establishment in the Butler Exchange.

He is also extensively interested in other enterprises of special manufactures. Mr. Brown is one of the young men in the party, and at various times he has been honored with office in the city government from the Fourth ward.

Mr. Brown was nominated for mayor on the republican ticket not many years ago, but he declined in favor of Mayor Doyle, who was elected.

The second place on the ticket, which will go to Col. Mellville Bull, of Middletown, is considered a very important one the present year.

Col. Bull's nomination will practically be a Newport representation, for he is from that county, and is widely and favorably known in the second capital city.

Mr. Brown and Mr. Bull will be new men in the state ticket line, but they will have the gentlemen on the balance of the ticket of last year added as their associates.

These are Hon. Geo. H. Utter, secretary of state; Robert W. Burbank, attorney-general; Samuel M. Clark, state treasurer.

A ROW IN THE CHURCH.

A Fighting Professor Causes Much Trouble.

He Assaults the Usher During Services and Is Forcibly Ejected From the Edifice.

Tiffin, O., March 7.—(Special)—A scene was created at St. Paul's M. E. church, the most wealthy in the city, at the close of services Sunday morning. The pastor, Rev. Dr. Newell S. Albright, was interrupted by Prof. Emil Reichelt, who assaulted the usher, Attorney Henry E. Adelsperger, when he attempted to eject him from the auditorium.

Reichelt struck Aldelsperger with a heavy metal cane and force was necessary to remove him from the church.

Later Reichelt was arrested and will be called upon to answer to the charge of assault. He is proficient in seven languages and came here several months ago and organized classes for private instruction in the languages, but his erratic disposition was detrimental to his success and he has been looked upon as a religious fanatic. He has uttered threats against the lives of several clergymen and public school teachers whom he has annoyed and efforts will be made to have him confined in an asylum. He is a dangerous character, though he is a graduate of several German educational institutions.

The police did excellent work in ferreting out the perpetrators of the robbery in the postoffice and Selle's clothing store in this city last Friday night, and have Frank Noonan, aged nineteen, and Charles Dunn, twenty-two, in jail for the crimes.

Noonan has confessed and will be turned over to the federal authorities at Toledo for the postoffice job. Dunn protests his innocence, but Noonan names him as one of his accomplices.

POVERTY IN PALACES.

Terrible State of Affairs in Vienna.

During the Last Month Six Hundred and Twenty Thousand Have Received Relief.

London, March 7.—An agent of Reuter's Telegram company, who is inquiring into the distress in Vienna, paints a terrible picture of the destitution that prevails in that city.

There are many houses, he says, whose splendid exteriors give no suspicion of their miserable interiors.

Cellars in such houses, he affirms, are found crowded with starving persons who are out of work and others who are earning only a mere pittance.

Hundreds are unable to pay rent, and exist in daily fear of eviction.

But in spite of all this misery there is a total absence of evidence of vice among the sufferers.

During the last three months 620,000 poor persons in Vienna have received relief.

Miss Lettie Huntley,

Is the sister of Mr. W. S. Huntley, of Cortland, N. Y., a well known carpenter and builder. Her frank statement below gives only the absolute truth concerning her illness and marvelous recovery by the aid of Hood's Sarsaparilla. She says:

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Dear Sir: Twelve years ago I began to have hemorrhages and four years ago became so low that the physicians told me

There Was No Hope

and I should soon die. I could not be moved from my bed. Under my face were napkins continually reddened with blood from my mouth. I could eat nothing and had no action of the bowels for a week. The doctors said the cause was ulcers in the stomach. At this time my mother said she wanted to make one more trial, and asked if I would take Hood's Sarsaparilla. I told her it would be

A Waste of Money

but finding it would comfort her, I began taking it. In a few days the bloating began to subside, I seemed to feel a little stronger, but thought it only fancy. I was so weak I could only take ten drops of Sarsaparilla at first. In two weeks I was able to sit up a few minutes every day. In a month I could walk across the room. One day I asked what they were to have for dinner, and said I wanted something hearty. My mother was so happy she cried. It was the

First Time I had Felt Hungry for Two Years

I kept on with Hood's Sarsaparilla and in six months was as well as ever in my life. It is now four years since I recovered, and I have not had a day's sickness since, nor any hemorrhage. If ever a human being thanked the good Lord on bended knees it was I. I know that Hood's Sarsaparilla, and that alone, unquestionably Saved my Life."

Messrs. Sawyer & Jennings, the well known druggists of Cortland, say that Miss Huntley "is a highly respected lady; her statement of what

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Has done for her is worthy the highest confidence." Hood's Pills cure Liver Ills.

A CHANCE TO TALK WAR,

But No Possible Chance for a Fight.

Salisbury is Toying with Secretary Blaine.

When the Proper Time Comes the Great Seal Question Will be Settled and There Will be No Blood Shed in the Settlement.

Washington, March 7.—The navy department regards the recent developments of the Bering Sea question with great satisfaction. As in the dark days of the Chilean trouble it sees a possible chance of at least a naval parade, if not something better suited to the taste of every man in the service.

It takes very little to start war talk in Washington, and Lord Salisbury's ultimatum that he will not consent to a renewal of the modus vivendi in Bering Sea has proved sufficient. The fire-eating lieutenants are already speculating on the necessity of Uncle Sam sending a force of vessels to the northern waters to protect the seals in Bering Sea and keep off the poachers.

It is not by any means generally thought that there will be any trouble with England over this matter. The impression seems to be that Lord Salisbury is simply having some fun with Mr. Blaine and proposes to keep it up for 60 days until the present modus vivendi ceases.

Mr. Blaine originally was not in favor of a modus vivendi. He proposed, and the president disposed of the proposition, that the poachers be allowed to hunt within 25 miles of the rookeries.

Mr. Blaine was then posing as the John L. Sullivan of diplomacy, and the utter destruction of Lord Salisbury in that line was confidently foretold. Lord Salisbury seems to have remembered the Blaine proposition, and Mr. Blaine being now forced by American public opinion to do all he can to protect the seal, the gentleman who was to have been demolished takes great pleasure in making the old proposal himself.

He therefore expresses an unwillingness to renew the modus vivendi on May 1, and practically suggests that the poachers be allowed to hunt within 30 miles of the island, thus going Mr. Blaine five miles better. To use a popular similie, Mr. Blaine cannot "see" him, and unless Lord Salisbury reconsiders his decision the poachers will win the game. Under the circumstances the treaty of arbitration, which has just been agreed to, will probably not be ratified by the United States senate. If there is to be no new modus vivendi pending the arbitration to preserve the seals there will be no use to arbitrate, for there will be nothing to save.

The ultimatum of Lord Salisbury, it is said, was received at the state department on Tuesday last. I am assured that it was first proposed to hold the ultimatum and to send in the treaty to the senate. The demand that publicity be given to the whole matter caused considerable commotion in the state department, and after a great deal of discussion it was decided that it would not do to send in the treaty and have it afterward known that before the treaty went in the ultimatum of Lord Salisbury, making the treaty useless, had been received.

To Mislead the Public.

Therefore, the news that Lord Salisbury's ultimatum had been received was announced under a London date line to mislead the public as to the source of information, the cable being very unadvisedly followed by a Washington dispatch corroborating it. The treaty will go in to-day, but for the reason I have given will probably not be ratified until Lord Salisbury has sufficiently enjoyed himself, which will be about May 1, when it is confidently expected he will withdraw his ultimatum and consent to a new modus vivendi.

As intimated, the navy department does not look at the situation from this peaceful and humorous standpoint. They feel now that there is a busy time ahead for the navy, and it is not without some misgivings that they look forward to this summer's campaign in Bering Sea waters. Until the announcement was made that Lord Salisbury had refused to agree to a renewal of the modus vivendi the navy and revenue marine officials had anticipated a repetition of last year's work in warning and driving off the poachers.

In fact, the navy department had almost concluded that the Mohican, in connection with the revenue cutters Corwin, Rush and Bear, would be sufficient for this year's police duty will be necessary.

The Cabinet Will Settle It.

Naval officers have been consulting together a good deal to-day as to what will be expected of the navy in the fight of Lord Salisbury's new attitude. A meeting of the cabinet will be necessary to determine what the next move of the United States will be, but the naval officials fully expect instructions that will necessitate the presence of nearly all the vessels of the Pacific fleet in Bering Sea.

Fortunately the navy department is better prepared for this service than it was a year ago. There are nine vessels, all in serviceable condition, available for Bering Sea duty. These are the Baltimore, the Charleston, the Mohican and the Adams, now at Mare Island; the Boston and the Yorktown, en route from the south to San Francisco; the San Francisco at Honolulu, the Ranger in Lower California, and the Thetis at Sitka, Alaska.

If these vessels have nothing else to do but capture sealers they will be more than enough for the purpose, but England has seven formidable vessels in Pacific waters and a fleet of 15 others on the China station that can be sent to Bering Sea as quickly as we can get ours there. The American navy would cut a pretty lame figure in its efforts to seize English sealing vessels if England should attempt to interfere, as she probably would. The English vessels in the Pacific at the present time are the 8,400 ton armored cruiser Warspite, the 2,380 ton cruiser Champion, the 2,000 ton cruiser Melpomene, the Nymphe, the Garnet, the Pheasant and the Daphne.

Phrenologists have long claimed to be able to ascertain the character of an individual by observing the conformation of the bumps on his skull, but now photography, in conjunction with the electric light, has rendered it possible for a man to know by ocular demonstration the state of his own inside. Inclosed in a cylindrical case provided with two hemispherical shutters and contained in an indiarubber tube, is a small cylindrical camera. In front of the lense are two tiny incandescent lamps, the wires to which, as well as a short pipe from the camera, are carried in an outside casing tube. Simple pressure on a pneumatic ball drives the camera forward in the incasing cylinder, and at the same instant makes the contact for the electric lamps and opens the shutters. By removing the pressure on the balls the camera returns to its place, the lamps go out and the shutters close.

How They Differ.

In make up: Most baking powders contain ammonia or alum. Cleveland's does not; not a particle.

It is made of pure cream of tartar and bi-carbonate of soda, with a little flour to keep the strength, nothing else. Cleveland's is wholesome.

In strength: A rounded spoonful of Cleveland's does better work than a heaping spoonful of any other.

A large saving on a year's bakings. Cleveland's leavens most.

In results: Cake made with Cleveland's is fine grained, keeps moist and fresh.

Cleveland's leavens best.

On the 7th of March, 1776, died Molly Mogg, perhaps the handsomest woman of her time. She was a tavern keeper's wife. Three great English poets, one of whom was Pope, published a ballad which became famous as the result of their joint authorship. This is the first verse:

The schoolboy delights in a play day,
The schoolmaster's joy is to flog;
The milkmaid's delight is in May-day,
But mine is in sweet Molly Mogg.

Col. DeWolf and Mr. McGrath, of Cleveland, are in the city to-day inspecting the tug Laura D. and examining candidates for higher position. The county commissioners this morning passed a resolution appointing Mr. S. C. Schenck as trustee of the Children's home for another term of three years.

THE EAGLE SPICE MILLS

Will Be Operated by a Stock Company.

The firm of J. M. Bour & Co., which has conducted the Eagle Spice mills in this city and a branch house in Detroit, has reorganized into a stock company, incorporated under the laws of Michigan, and J. M. Bour has been elected president and general manager. A number of the leading retail dealers in this city and in the territory where the company does business have taken stock, and will now have a double incentive to handle and push the goods. The new company starts in excellent condition, and will make itself felt in business circles.

RUNNING NETS

Up the River—Gathering in the Finny Tribe at the Wrong Time.

The river above the elevators presents a busy appearance just at present. The fish are going up into shallow water to spawn, and they are being taken by the thousand by seine nets.

Two shanty boats are set near the lower end of the island just off the old Clover Leaf docks. The fishermen run 1,500 feet of net, and the damage wrought to the fishing up the river and elsewhere by this practice cannot be estimated. If there is a law prohibiting fishing at this time and in this manner it should be rigidly enforced.

THE BOYS' HOME.

The Greatest Present Need is for Wearing Apparel.

Mrs. Tillinghast and Mrs. Cronise, of the board of directors for the Boys' home, said to a Bee that their greatest present need was of garments. Any second-hand men's or boys' clothing that can be made over will be acceptable, or any misfit or cast aside garments from the clothing stores would be a great help. There are 18 boys in the home at present, the discipline is good, and the excellent work promises returns. Do not forget about the clothing. Can be left with Mrs. H. B. Tillinghast, 121 Eleventh street, or at the home.

DOCTORS BRING SUIT

Against the Lake Shore for Services at the Wreck.

A suit was heard in Justice Parker's court Saturday in the matter of Dr. W. H. Fisher and Dr. A. W. Fisher v. the Lake Shore railroad, in which the plaintiffs desire to secure payment for services rendered at the time of the tunnel disaster on that road. The company, it seems, was willing to pay the doctors for their work on the night of the accident, but not for that done the following morning. The counsel for the railroad company finally agreed to pay the plaintiffs $45 each for their services, which was at the rate of $5 an hour.

Another beautiful residence will be erected on Collingwood avenue.

Last week W. J. Walding purchased a lot with 97 feet frontage on Collingwood avenue, between the residences of Messrs. Yaryan and Sherman, near Bancroft, from the Scottwood syndicate. On this site Mr. Walding will erect a fine dwelling to cost $15,000, just as soon as the plans are perfected.

VETOED.

Mayor Emmick Still Refuses to Approve the General Street Railway Ordinance.

The board of aldermen meet this evening, but the schedule of business is not large, and is composed mostly of routine business.

The general street railway ordinance, however, will come before them again in the shape of another veto from Mayor Emmick. This is the second time he has vetoed the ordinance requiring conductors and safety gates on all cars, and it is hardly probable that the ordinance will be passed over his veto.

BURGLARIZED THE POSTOFFICE.

Postmaster Gibson Prefers Charges Against a Young Tiffinite.

Gen. W. H. Gibson, postmaster at Tiffin, is in the city to-day and this morning was in consultation with U. S. Commissioner Hall relative to the robbery of the postoffice at Tiffin Saturday.

MR. MILLER, OF ST. LOUIS,

President of the Brotherhood of Electric Workers, in Toledo.

Sunday afternoon Henry Miller, of St. Louis, president of the National Brotherhood of Electric Workers, addressed the Toledo members, at Walbridge hall. He spoke of numerous matters pertaining to the welfare of those engaged in electrical business. In speaking of the bill now pending to make the reutal of the telephone $40 a year, he said it should be opposed because it meant but little to the subscribers and much to the companies and their employes. "The Bell patents," he said, "will expire in another year, and then mutual competition will do what it is required in the bill."

Mr. Miller did not favor the underground wire system, as it has proved very dangerous to employes and to people in the vicinity, in cases where the insulation had rotted off. The remarks were full of interest, and almost as good as a lecture on the Electric Age.

TOLEDO RACES.

The Exposition Company Held Its Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Toledo Exposition company was held Saturday, and officers were elected as follows: President, S. R. Maclaren; vice president, J. B. Bell; secretary, R. B. Crane; general ticket agent, Wm. M. Bellman; governor of the park, W. B. Geroe. It was decided to hold races July 12, 13, 14 and 15, and to offer purses to the total amount of $5,000 or $6,000. There will also be four days' racing during the fair in the fall. The stables are being remodeled and the grounds put in condition for the summer.

An expert will be here Wednesday to commence the work of remodeling the track. The curves will be changed and it is said that when the work has been completed it will be the fastest half-mile track in the state.

Barney Stanford, formerly with John Splan, has engaged 12 stalls at the exposition grounds, and will commence training at once.

The outlook for a year of good sport is very encouraging.

FEBRUARY WEATHER.

Some Points on Last Month from the Meteorological Bureau.

The monthly bulletin of the Ohio Meteorological Bureau, issued from Columbus, shows that for February the mean atmospheric pressure for the state was 30.13 inches and the mean temperature 35 degrees. The maximum temperature was 74 degrees at Portsmouth on the 23d and the minimum temperature was one degree below zero at McConnellsville on the 5th. The mean precipitation was 3.08 inches.

The snowfall for the month was irregularly distributed, and averaged 4 inches over the state. No very great protection was afforded by it to the winter wheat, and its growth was retarded some by alternate freezing and thawing. No serious damage, however, is reported.

Reports received from 64 displaymen receiving forecasts from Washington give a percentage of verification of 82 for weather and 81 for temperature. Five cold wave warnings were issued, three of which were justified.

Conducting Revival Meetings at Sidney at Present.

Rev. J. W. Donnan, of the Central Ohio M. E. conference, who is well known in Toledo, is at present assisting Rev. W. W. Lance in the revival meetings now in progress at Sidney. The Journal has the following complimentary reference to the reverend gentleman:

"Rev. J. W. Donnan is a very rapid and fluent speaker and never seems to be at a loss for the proper words to make his ideas clear, or an illustration to bring out the thoughts he wishes to convey to his hearers. While he wears a pleasant Applies to everything, but is especially true of China. It's in the goods. The price we ask for them. The value is there. he is deeply in earnest from the beginning to the end of his sermon or exhortation. Almost as soon as he starts, by the manner of his presentation of his subject, he makes his hearers feel the same interest and zeal in the subject that he feels himself. His language is plain and simple, usually smooth. Occasionally he breaks out into a storm of loud and vociferous language that was in former times so common among many Methodist ministers. He is a man of great faith, energy and zeal, and as a revivalist has been successful in gathering a good harvest of converts into the churches where he preaches."

NOW THE T. & O. C.

Has a Damage Suit on Hand—$10,000 the Amount Involved.

In common pleas court to-day Lena E. Calvin, administratrix of the estate of William H. Calvin, sued the Toledo & Ohio Central Railway company to recover $10,000 damages for the death of her husband, the decedent.

The plaintiff alleges that the deceased at the time of his death, was in the employ of the defendant as head brakeman on its freight train. That on September 23, while in the discharge of his duties, he was knocked from the train by a signal post at the bridge near Granville, Licking county, and killed. She alleges that the post was located too near the track.

DEATH OF DR. LUNGREN.

He Passed Away at Chicago This Morning.

A telegram was received at noon today from Chicago, announcing the death of Dr. S. S. Lungren. The Doctor was taken sick in this city some months ago with a complication of troubles, from which he partially recovered, and was then taken to Chicago for treatment. For a few weeks he was thought to be improving, and hopes were had for his recovery, but last week the patient grew worse, the end being reached at 11:35 this morning.

Dr. Lungren was born in York county, Pa., August 22, 1827, and received his early education at Philadelphia. He went into a drug store when 16 years of age and remained five years, studying in the evenings. In 1848 he entered Jefferson Medical college, graduating in 1850, and commenced the practice of his profession at Hagerstown, Md., where he spent 10 years. He then attended a course of lectures at the Homeopathic Medical college at Philadelphia, graduating in March, 1852, and again resumed his practice at Hagerstown under the homeopathic system until 1860, when he removed to Toledo, and has been among the leading physicians of the school here.

Dr. Lungren was connected with the state society, and also with the American Institute of Homeopathy.

The remains will be brought to Toledo for interment.

JOAN OF ARC

Enthusiastic for the Club House for Women.

Joan of Arc assembly 10062 was in regular session at Clark's hall, corner Summit and Cherry streets, Saturday evening. Considerable routine business was disposed of, the only subject of public interest discussed being the proposed club house for women. The committee appointed to represent the assembly at the informal meeting held at the Law kindergarten rooms reported, and all the members were in favor of the project. District Secretary Martin was present, and when called on for a speech, responded with a few words on this subject. This club house for women was something he had dreamed of, but like all dreams, had seemed too far off and ethereal to ever be realized. Now that the wide-awake women of Toledo had taken the matter in hand, he expected to see them succeed, and he wanted to see the members of this assembly among the workers. Being a working girls' society, they of course have neither wealth nor influence, but make up, partly at least, in pluck and "hustling" qualities what they lack in these other essentials.

The members were all requested to be present at the meeting to be held in Law kindergarten rooms, March 9, to which all women are invited for further discussion of the club house project.

The next meeting will be held Saturday evening, March 19.

BISHOP LEONARD,

Of This Diocese, Begins the Work of Confirmation at Cleveland.

This morning's Leader makes the following synopsis of a sermon delivered by Bishop Leonard of the Episcopal diocese at Cleveland last evening, when he confirmed a class:

At Grace Episcopal church last evening Bishop Leonard administered the rite of confirmation to a class of thirty-two young people. The church was crowded to overflowing, and the services were very impressive. At the close of the confirmation ceremonies the bishop addressed those who had been confirmed briefly. His remarks were in the nature of timely advice. He said God had given them something which they could multiply and add to every day. In order to do this, however, they must go to God on their knees. They must not only pray, but must become ardent students of the Bible. In addition to this they must attend church and become frequent partakers of the holy communion, or they would die, spiritually. Bishop Leonard then preached a sermon to the congregation. He chose as the basis of his remarks the words from the gospel of St. Matthew, depicting the temptation of the Saviour by the devil. The sermon was a scholarly one, and showed the temptations to which human nature was prone. He said the devil was often a creature in the shape of man "Think," said the speaker, "of some of the men who infect our cities. They draw people into their nets and ruin them body and soul. There are men and women are trained in sin, and have capital, machinery, and literature to aid them. They also run great risks. We meet them on the highway at noon and on the streets at night. They are on the railway trains, and on the ocean and river steamers, and they swarm among our modern civilization. Look at the glittering rum shops, and think of the souls and bodies that they destroy."

Bishop Leonard referred to personal temptations which come to every one, and closed by urging his hearers to use the season of Lent as a time to seek out their special temptations, and then to make firm resolve to resist them. The devil, he said, was a coward, and could be put to flight.

THE TREATMENT OF CONSTIPATION AND ORDINARY DYSPEPSIA.

Sir Thompson, the English professor, believes that in the vast majority of cases chronic constipation may be successfully overcome by a teaspoonful of the genuine imported Carlsbad Sprudel Salt dissolved in a tumblerful of water (half a pint), cold or hot, early in the morning, and if necessary on going to bed. Out-door exercise will aid its action materially.

Use only the genuine, which has the signature of "Eisner & Mendelson Co., Sole Agents, New York" on the wrapper around each bottle.

WILL LOOK IN THE TILL.

AN ATTEMPTED ABDUCTION.

A Young Lady Grabbed Up on Jefferson Street.

It was reported at the police station this morning that an abduction was attempted on Jefferson street Sunday afternoon. The daughter of Mr. H. H. Pierce, while on her way home from dancing school at the Pythian Castle, was rushed upon by two men. One grabbed her and placing his hand over her mouth to muffle her cries thrust her into the arms of his companion. The young lady's screams attracted the attention of some one in the vicinity and the man carrying her released his hold and both men took to their heels. This is not the first case of the kind that has occurred of late.

ROUGH ON ROADS.

Warrants Issued for the Arrest of Violators of the Tire Law.

The authorities are after violators of the narrow wagon tire law with a sharp stick.

The prosecution thus far has been confined to Auburndale and vicinity. Since winter has broken up, gardeners have been hauling truck and they have not, it seems, paid proper attention to the weight of th loads piled on their wagons with narrow tires. On Saturday over a half dozen warrants were sworn out, and arrests will follow. One wagon was weighed and the load, not including the wagon, tipped the scales at 2,500 pounds.

MR. LANE MAKES A POINT

Relative to the Pumping of Gas—He Has a Theory.

Speaking of the advisability of pumping Gas, Mr. F. T. Lane said this morning:

"One peculiar thing struck me during our investigation in Pittsburg. Toledo has now and has had right along a pressure as great at this end of the line as Mr. Pew has in his. At his distributing point he has a pound, while we have that and more. I think if our gas was more equally distributed we would have plenty of a supply and a pressure without the use of pumps."

One of the gentlemen interviewed in Pittsburg said of Toledo's superintendent: "I worked under Mr. O'Herron 10 years ago and consider him one of the ablest gas experts in the country."

VILE AND UNWORTHY

Of consideration are nostrums of which it is asserted—and there are many such—that they cure immediately bodily ailments of long standing. There are none such that can. Chronic disorders cannot be instantaneously removed. Continuity in the use of a genuine medicine, such as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, will eradicate chronic physical evils. Not the least of these last in the force of its opposition to medicine is constipation, to the removal of which, if persisted in, the Bitters is particularly adapted. Constriction of the bowels is a complaint which should be dealt with early and systematically. So are its usual attendants, liver complaint and dyspepsia. For these, for malaria, rheumatism, kidney trouble, and more recently "la grippe," this highly and professionally commended medicine is an undoubted specific. Nothing can exceed it, moreover, as a means of imparting strength to the feeble and nervous.

Senator Sherman hasn't appeared to such advantage as he does in his anti-boss letter, since he went waltzing with Eliza Pinkston.

With 31,000 men owning one-half the wealth of the United States, it would appear that legislation for a goodly number of years had been strongly in the interest of capital.

The "storm signals" are up; there's music in the Pennsylvania atmosphere and Quay must hustle home from Florida to take advantage of his "vindication" and save himself in his own party.

Secretary Tracy says he thinks the invasion of the sanctity of the ballot the most threatening danger of the republic. It is encouraging to hear members of the party which committed the crime against the ballot in '76 coming, even thus tardily, to the confessional.

Extracts from the report of the Cordage trust show that a clean profit of $1,400,000 was last year divided among the stockholders. Their business is under the guardian wing of the high tariff tax law. Thus protected they have advanced prices to users of binding twine from three to four cents, with the abovementioned splendid results—to the trust. And this is simply one more object lesson in the study of the unholy thing called the McKinley law.

If by the 15th day of this month Venzuela, Haiti, Guatemala, Nicaragua and some other small states have not revised their tariff laws to meet the demands of the Harrison administration, then the McKinley duties will be put upon sugar, hides, coffee and tea imported from these countries. The imports of coffee last year amounted in value to $10,000, and while this is only one-tenth of our coffee importation, it is sufficient that the change will affect prices. This unwarranted power of the executive to tax and untax "when he shall be satisfied," etc., strikes the grower of coffee in one country and the consumer of it in another. It is serving notice to the struggling little South American states: if you do not conform your revenue tariff laws to our demands, regardless of what may be for your own good, and of your relations with other nations, we will punish you and bring you to terms. Magnanimous Pan-Americanism. The Argentine Republic did not come to President Harrison's terms without reservation, but that meant taxed hides in such quantities the New England shoemakers would not stand it, so the favoritism, duplicity and diplomacy that has unlimited possibilities under this measure of the McKinley law has already begun.

It is a fearful thing, this madness for wealth, that possesses the spirit of our people. Cultured, educated, eminent men commit robbery and murder to possess themselves of the world's treasure with the brief emolument it brings. Chicago dispatches give particulars of the arrest of Dr. H. M. Scudder, of Chicago, a physician eminent in his profession, son of a distinguished father, the Rev. Dr. Scudder, known throughout the country for the work of his pen, for his pulpit oratory and his charities. The accusation against the son is the murder in cold blood of his mother-in-law to gain possession of her property. The father applies to have the son detained in the hospital, as he is satisfied that he is wholly insane.

No doubt he is insane on the one idea of the possession of wealth, and how far is he responsible? is the question to answer. Mr. Scudder conducted his practice, attended to his church and Sunday school duties with regularity, and in no instance, except as his immediate family now testify, were his queer actions made note of. It is a disease, and, will some Keeley discover a specific? The air is full of germs, that is certain and a study of causes would be better than the multiplying of asylums. If the maniacal frenzy for gold is incurable, in this generation, think with pity of the next.

BUILDING THE METROPOLIS.

The growth of Chicago from a sandy marsh to a million people within a half century is the most marvelous development of the world's history. The conditions which brought about this growth could not be found elsewhere. The broadening and building of the republic until two ocean shores are lined with progressive industry must have a common center of trade, and the pivot is Chicago. But population alone is not evidence of stability. It must be the center of trade, the market for the wholesaler, and the market for money. New York is yet the clearing house of the country and for some time will be able to maintain its supremacy, but trade is drifting to Chicago, and within a few years the wholesalers of the western metropolis will fairly divide honors with their eastern shore neighbors. The determination of Arnold, Constable & Co., of New York, to establish a store in Chicago equal to their eastern house means an advance for Chicago, more than anything else of recent announcement. It is a wise business step for Arnold, Constable & Co. to take, but it is more—it is notice to the trade, east and west, that Chicago is to be the great distributing center of the country. Other merchant princes of the east must follow the star of trade empire, and money must in turn follow trade. Chicago has passed a local limit. It is become metropolitan and cosmopolitan. It will be strong in everything.

The Toronto Empire, mentioning the Blaine affair as "a sad episode," says it is painful for the father to feel obliged to confess and at the same time constrained to conceal the fact that his son is a weak-minded youth. The son's wife has documentary evidence to show that the father misrepresents the mental weakness of her ex-husband.

An epidemic of bloody crime is spreading over the country. Are we indeed advancing in the scale of civilization? What philosopher can give us a fitting essay on the ethics of killing?

According to their own valuation, if the sailors of the Baltimore in the Chile difficulty are an example, the United States has the grandest and richest navy the world has ever known.

Mrs. Potter Palmer thinks $300,000 entirely inadequate to represent the great state of New York at the world's fair. So do we. Now let New York go and be ashamed of herself.

The funeral casket for the late Congressman Houk of Tennessee cost the country $1,400. The Knoxville undertaker is a modest merchant and made "special figures."

The Washington Post scores "the hard-worked political prophet." Well, and hasn't a man to earn his bread somehow?

If William Waldorf Astor is sent minister to China, look out for a Celestial novel—if he doesn't lose his precious head.

Watterson and Hill, Harrison and Reid: the New York World has it all fixed but nobody says "ay, ay."

Mr. Blaine's daughter-in-law gave him just ten days and four of those are gone.

Canada is Right In It.

The complexity of the present position of affairs in Canada has perhaps never been equalled. Its gravity is also undoubted. Many bye-elections for the Dominion house have recently taken place, and if we may judge by these, the sentiment of the country is once more pronouncing strongly against the opposition. So far the situation is eminently satisfactory, but in Quebec the sound of a great conflict is spreading over the land. It would be folly to say that the result is not doubtful, but it is more than that. The consequence of the coming electoral decision is fraught with vital import to the province and indirectly to the whole Dominion.—Toronto Empire.

Our Northern Neighbor.

How long can Canada hold out against the commercial and industrial necessities of her situation? In the east the maritime provinces are clamoring for closer trade relations with New England. Lower Canada looks wistfully across the border that separates her from Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York; and Manitoba almost fiercely demands reciprocity.—Philadelphia Record.

No Foolishness Here.

The nerve of the anarchists in placing dynamite cartridges in the doorway of the headquarters of the Paris police ought to suggest to the French authorities the expediency of inquiring into the American way of dealing with anarchy. A commission would gain some valuable points by visiting Chicago and pursuing its investigation.—Kansas City Star.

That Western Man.

However much democrats are divided in the east there is perfect harmony in the west over one important point: Palmer, Boies, Gray, Dickinson, Vilas and Morrison are all agreed that the situation calls for the nomination of a western man. —Buffalo News.

An Intense State.

Gov. Boies has called out a militia company to suppress a religious war in Adams county, Iowa, which furnishes additional proof that the people of that state never do things by halves. In politics, temperance and religion they are very intense.—Minneapolis Tribune.

Clarkson's Ghost.

Chairman Clarkson should now follow Col. Clarke's example and explain his remarks on the subject of the circulation and influence of republican newspapers. He is likewise on record as bemoaning their backwardness.—Boston Herald.

A Great Patch.

It is now said that the prospective peace between Quay and Harrison has been patched up by Porter, Martin and company. This is likely enough. Philadelphia for patchwork against the world.—Philadelphia Times.

After the Picturesque.

That proposed fusion of Florida republicans with third party people on a platform demanding high protection and free silver, would make a truly grotesque political spectacle.—Indianpolis Sentinel.

OVERWORK.

East Liverpool, O., March 7.—Dudley F. Young, editor of the Evening Review of this city, died, after three weeks' illness, from typhoid fever, brought on by overwork and worry in the publication of his paper through a printers' strike.

His wife starts Monday morning with his remains for Troy, N. Y., his old home. Mr. Young was a writer of some ability and came here the first of December last, buying the Review on the foreclosure of a mortgage. He was formerly connected with R. G. Dun & Co.'s mercantile agency at Gloversville, N. Y., and Richmond, Va.

STRUCK BY A LOCOMOTIVE.

Fostoria, O., March 7.—A west-bound passenger train on the Lake Erie & Western road killed an unknown man one mile west of this city.

He was walking on the track and was struck by the locomotive. On his person was found a letter signed by R. E. Cloude, Union City, Ind. He is supposed to have been a glass worker from this city.

DEATH IN THE FLAMES.

Purcell, I. T., March 7.—Fire at the town of Lexington, Oklahoma, yesterday, destroyed the Ansley hotel and W. H. Carr's saloon. Ben Montgomery, asleep in the hotel, was burned to death. The fire originated in the saloon from an unknown cause.

FOR CLEVELAND.

Bellefonte, Pa., March 7.—The five delegates to the democratic state convention from this county will vote for Cleveland. Their names are John Nolle, Chas. R. Kurtz, P. J. McDonald, William Pieler, and Judge Rielly.

JUDGE PIERREPONT DEAD.

New York, March 7.—Judge Edward Pierrepont died yesterday in his 79th year at his residence, No. 103 Fifth avenue, from cerebral hemorrhage. He had been an invalid for over two years.

INSTANTLY KILLED.

Niles, O., March 7.—George Smith, a prominent iron worker, while walking on the A., Y. & P. track, was struck by an engine and instantly killed.

OCEAN MARINE.

London, March 7.—The steamship Aller, which left New York February 27 for Bremen, arrived at Southampton at 6:40 a. m. today.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

Queen Victoria believes that articles made by blind people bring luck.

Victorien Sardou is the ugliest-looking man in Paris when he tries to smile.

Mr. James W. Scott, of the Chicago Herald, and family sail for Europe on March 12, to be absent three months.

The only time Jay Gould ever got into the hands of a receiver was when he assisted at one of President Harrison's receptions.

Leading republicans of West Virginia say that Secretary Elkins will be the next republican candidate for governor of that state.

Capt. T. O. Selfridge, U. S. N., has arranged to build another cottage on Conanicut island—a favorite place for naval officers and for Philadelphians.

Dr. Samuel Fallows of Chicago, presiding bishop of the Reformed Episcopal church, expresses the belief that the church should not meddle in politics.

Col. Daniel Lamont and Mrs. Lamont are at the Hygeia. Old Point Comfort, and Abner A. McKinley, of Ohio, brother of the governor, is a recent arrival.

Countess Telfener has left Paris for Rome with her husband after a short stay with her sister, Mrs. Mackay, who remains in Paris for a fortnight at the Hotel Binda.

It is rumored at the City of Mexico that either Senor Mariscal, who now holds the portfolio of foreign affairs, or Senor Zamacona will be appointed minister to England.

One of the most promising of the younger orators in congress is Isidor Rayner, a member from Maryland. He is about 40 years old, and has already become noted for his pre-eminence in learning as well as in eloquence. As for his oratory, it is said of him that he has a vocabulary as extensive as Senator Blackburn's, and he is as fluent as Blaine was a dozen years ago. He first took his seat in congress in 1887.

The oldest of the public men most talked about as presidential nominess is Senator Palmer, who is 74. The youngest, excepting of course, the Massachusetts favorite, Gov. Russell, is Senator Hill, who is 48. Mr. Cleveland is 55, Senator Gorman 53, Senator Allison 63, Senator Cullom 62, and Senator Carlisle 56, while Boies, Gray and Sherman are past middle life. Grant, who was inaugurated at 47, is said to have been the youngest president.

MENTIONED ON THE STREETS.

That the Boy's Home directors are anxious for a supply of clothing for their charges.

That whatever else goes the improvements for the fire department should not be forgotten.

That the name of J. J. Stone is discussed in connection with the police commissionership.

That the South street plank road is in horrible condition, and ought to be repaired at once.

That the Toledo bank statements make their usual good showing—in fact, there are none better.

That W. H. Tucker is on his mettle because the Pittsburg papers gave his occupation as a politician.

That Toledoans are getting back home from their Mari Gras trips, feeling "it was good to be there."

That it is among the probablities that ex-Senator Geyser will go on the asylum board, vice Baxter or Rohrs.

That the street commissioner's force is now being employed daily, and additions will continue until election day.

That Mayor Emmick will continue to veto street car gate and conductor ordinances as fast as presented to him.

That Judge Doyle is delving into his books on breach of promise to be in shape for next Friday night's trial at the Y. M. C. A.

That the youngsters are looking up their base balls, bats, masks, etc., preparatory to entering on the season's engagements.

That photographers are the loudest complainers about the cloudy weather and long for old Sol to shine in all his glory once more.

That T. P. Brown will soon be compelled to make choice between a nomination for gas trustee and that of Third ward alderman.

That the municipal authorities will soon have an important problem to solve—how to pay maturing 8 per cent. bonds from a depleted treasury.

That Selma Herman exhibited qualities as an actress which were greatly pleasing to her many friends, who will wish her all the success attainable.

That Frank Rickenbaugh, by his statement, puts the Ann Arbor Glee club in a rather bad plight before the public on the question of square dealing.

That the gas pump question will bear a little more investigation than it has yet received. It is too big a proposition on which to jump at a conclusion.

That Governor McKinley would add greatly to the peace of mind of many Toledoans if he would only announce his choice for railroad commissioner.

That W. F. Brown, of the East Side, has a hankering to fill City Engineer Wickenden's shoes, and will make the fight if the next council is republican.

That what was regarded as treason a little while ago relative to a raise in the price of natural gas is now regarded as pretty good judgment. Time rights all things.

That with Trustee Charles Foster in England and Trustee Parks Foster in Florida, both in search of health, would-be officeholders at the insane asylum are in hard luck.

That Coroner Beckwith will retire from the school board at the coming election, although it will not be on account of the great amount of business connected with the coronial office he has had to investigate since he took hold.

FLICK IS ON DECK

With a Bill to Help the Toledo Harbor.

It Will Provide That a Certain Levy From the General Taxes Shall be Set Aside Each Year for the Purpose of Dredging the River.

Saturday and yesterday Representative Flickinger has been in consultation with prominent Toledoans regarding a bill he is about to introduce in the Ohio legislature.

The bill shall provide that a certain limited levy of the general taxes shall be set aside each year for dredging and the maintenance of a deep channel in the Maumee river and tributaries.

The bill has been indorsed by the vessel and grain men of the city, and Mr. Flickinger believes he will be able to get it through without any difficulty, providing Representative Griffin does not step in and get ahead of him, as he did in a former case.

GRAND DUKE OF HESSE.

No Signs of Improvement in His Condition.

A Multitude Surrounds the Palace at Darmstadt Eager to Learn Any Encouraging News.

Berlin, March 7.—The grand duke Louis of Hesse shows no signs of improvement. His breathing is labored, and the attending physicians have the greatest fears. The grand duke's children have been notified of his condition and it is said that the grand duchess Elizabeth is hurrying from Moscow to reach the bedside of her dying father.

The greatest sorrow prevails among the people, and the palace at Darmstadt was surrounded at an early hour by a multitude anxious to learn the latest regarding the condition of the ruler to whom they are deeply attached.

DEMOCRATIC PRIMARIES.

How They Will be Conducted This Spring.

Supervisors to be Appointed Who Will Receive the Votes of Qualified Electors—How Tickets May be Prepared.

A misunderstanding seems to prevail in some quarters relative to the manner of conducting the democratic primaries on the evening of March 19, hence an explanation may not prove uninteresting.

Under the plan adopted by the city central committee, two supervisors will be appointed for each ward, who will be present from 4 to 8 o'clock at one place in the ward, which is to be designated by the city committee, to receive the votes of all democrats, and none others will be allowed to vote.

It is within the province of any member of the party to run for the offices to be filled at the April election, and he may prepare written or printed tickets with his name thereon, designating the office for which he desires to be nominated. He may also "double up" with any other candidate for either of the other offices, or can agree with a number for a full ticket. On these tickets a set of delegates to the city convention can also be placed, and all can be voted as a whole by qualified electors.

As for instance—first:

FIRST WARD.
For Alderman—JOHN JONES.

Second—
For Alderman—JOHN JONES.
For Councilman—JAMES JONES.

Third—
For Alderman—JOHN JONES.
For Councilman—JAMES JONES.
For School Board—WM. JONES.

Fourth—
For Alderman—JOHN JONES.
For Councilman—JAMES JONES.
For School Board—WM. JONES.
For Assessor—PETER JONES

Fifth—
For Alderman—JOHN JONES.
For Councilman—JAMES JONES.
For School Board—WM. JONES.
For Assessor—PETER JONES

Delegates to City Convention.
RICHARD ROE.
JOHN DOE.
WILLIAM SMITH.

JAMES WRIGHT.

By this means the fullest latitude is given to every voter as well as to every candidate. If any democrat has an idea he can be nominated to any office, all he has to do is to prepare his ticket. There is no room for packing caucuses, where those who can shout the loudest are declared the winners. The primary system puts all on an equal footing, provides for the expression of the voice of the people, and admits of no kicking.

Nothing but praise has been heard for the city committee on account of its action. Properly carried out, it means better government for the city by reason of the opportunity given to consider dispassionately the merits of those presented for the various offices to be filled. And at no time in Toledo's history has it been more necessary to exercise this prerogative than at present.

With wise nominations and unanimity of effort, there is no reason why the democracy should not enjoy a sweeping victory in the municipal contest on the first Monday in April.

Will all democrats labor to bring such result about?

SOLD BY THE RECEIVER.

The Whitney & Tracy Lumber Plant Disposed of.

The Cash Has Been Paid Into Court for the Benefit of Creditors and Affairs Will Soon be Settled Up.

The Whitney & Tracy lumber yard in East Toledo has been sold.

The affairs of this concern have been in the hands of a receiver for over a year. There are at least 20 cases pending in common pleas court against Whitney & Tracy to recover on obligation. It will be remembered that one case was tried to a jury in Judge Lemmon's court to establish a partner's liability against Doria Tracy. The jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff, which the court set aside. The creditors will now take what the estate pays out.

On Saturday afternoon the receiver, E. H. Rhoades, sold the lumber plant to Bills & Koch for $6,526.50, and reported the same to the court of common pleas to-day.

ARTIFICIAL SAND.

Why It Is More Useful Than the Natural Sands.

The notion of making sand by machinery is probably one of the last which would occur to the ordinary inventive genius. In by far the greater part of the world sand in its natural state is sufficiently common, so that no market could be supposed to exist for an artificial product.

It is well known, however, that sand from a sea, lake or river shore, where it has been subject for ages to the action of water, is comparatively valueless for the purpose of making mortar.

It is not, as the masons express it, "sharp enough." Its grains have been worn round and smooth by the water, and mortar made of it is not as strong as that in which each grain, seen under a microscope, is like a jagged little rock freshly cloven from a precipice.

In certain regions this sharp "land sand" is hard to get. In the construction of the fortifications at Nice, in France, it was found that the nearest bed of good sand was so far away that each cubic metre of good sand brought to the works would cost no less than 14 francs. At this price it was cheaper to manufacture the sand than to obtain it in any other way

A sort of crusher, consisting of a swiftly revolving vertical shaft provided with successive shoulders or projections, ridged in such a way that they continually hurled against a stone wall the stones that were dropped upon them, was erected; and by means of this apparatus an excellent sand was made at a cost of about 4 francs per cubic metre.

The stone used for the purpose was very blue and very hard, and consequently made blue sand. Sand of this color is rarely met in nature, for the reason that the blue rocks are generally very hard and are seldom disintegrated or beaten up into sand.

How certain ambitious gentlemen of Washington and Oregon missed connections in their contest for the judgship of the Ninth circuit is thus explained by the Seattle Telegraph: "The honor might easily have been secured for this state had not political intrigues prevented. Senator Allen could have got the appointment, but the Seattle ring insisted that he stay in the senate, fearing that Gov. Ferry might appoint as his successor some one unsatisfactory to them. Mr. Hill never had any chance, and his name should not have been presented at all. Judge Hanford would probably have been appointed had not the ring undertaken to dictate his successor as district judge. The Seattle ring has found that it cannot run the president."

ABSOLUTELY PURE

ON THE EVE OF A CRISIS.

The Church Party Liable to Cause Trouble.

Scheming Politicians May Cause the Little Republic to Shed Some More Blood.

New York, March 7.—The Herald's Valparaiso cable says: There is no gainsaying the fact that Chile is on the eve of a political crisis. The conservative, or church, party intends to pursue a most aggresive policy in the approaching term of congress.

To that end it is now bending all its energies. The conservatives are not satisfied with the great power they now possess, but are determined to strike for more.

Their partisans already fill the majority of posts on railroads and in other branches of the government service.

They now desire to secure at least one-half of the other judicial offices, and have evinced the utmost antipathy toward the council of state, a body of six persons, appointed by congress, and which, while it lasts, gets its authority from the president.

Carlos Walker Martinez and Manuel Irrazabal, conservative members of the council, have tendered their resignations, and without doubt there will be a big fight in congress against the liberal party. The liberals, for their part, will combat their old-time political enemies to the bitter end.

The church relies in a great measure on its influence over its women devotees, but its interference in politics is regarded by liberals as so obstructive to the progress of the country that they are resolved that its power must be curtailed or extinguished.

Chile's financial condition, her best men believe, requires either Valdez Vergara or Agustin Edwards, each of whom is an able financier, as minister of Hacienda. Both have the entire confidence of commercial circles.

The liberal members of the cabinet will hold office, at President Montt's request, until a new ministry if formed.

Senor Salustre Bahe, formerly manager of the National bank, is on his way to the United States and Europe, having been commissioned by the Chilean government to investigate the prospects for extended use of nitrates.

Mr. Eyre, representing Wm. R. Grace & Co., of New York, here, has caused the insertion of an article in El Hualdo, boasting of Mr. Wm. R. Grace's influence with the United States government in behalf of Chile, and adding that he is equally powerful in the South American republics and in Washington. This article was published evidently in an endeavor to remove the prevalent impression that Grace's firm helped Balmaceda.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE.

An English Physician Says Women Must Marry or Take a Profession.

Dr. Arabella Kenealy, a noted physician of London, has, from her special practical medical experience among women, deduced the theory that women must make a choice between professional and married life. She says: "Women should not attempt to carry on a profession after marriage. I mean the women of the upper and middle classes who go into the professions. It is not necessary that they should be bread winners; that duty should devolve upon the husband, and I am confident that the rising generation would be healthier and stronger in every way if the mothers would exert themselves less. I look anxiously at every baby that comes under my notice in the hope that I shall find some improvement in the type, some increase in stamina, compared with the generation that has preceded it; but instead of this there is only steady deterioration observable. This deterioration is particularly noticeable among the children of very active mothers. The cleverest and most highly educated women, the women who take the most active part in public affairs, have the most weakly and puny children. Another thing, women are going into too active forms of exercise. When a young married woman tells me that she is captain of a cricket eleven or a foot ball team, I can only say I am perfectly aghast. Women must place themselves before the alternative, to earn their living, to exercise their faculties, and to gratify their ambitions in a professional career or to become good wives and mothers, and if they choose the domestic life they must recognize that they must sacrifice their personal happiness and ambition in the future happiness and success of their children."—New York Sun.

CHAUNCEY AND THE DANCER.

Carmencita charmed the audience with her dancing, and was repeatedly encored. A story is told of her becoming displeased at the small size of the dressing-room assigned to her, and refusing to appear, until Chauncy Depew was induced to act as peacemaker. By the aid of an interpreter he told the black-eyed Spaniard that as he came in at the door of the theatre he heard a lady ask at the box-office:

"Is Mr. Depew going to speak?"

"Yes ma'am," replied the treasurer.

"Is Carmencita going to dance?"

"Yes, ma'am."

"Then give me two seats," she said. "You see, my dear senorita, you are just as great an attraction as I. Besides, I desire to see you dance myself."

That settled it. Carmencita danced.—New York Journalist.

DR. KARL VIRCHOW SCHICK

HIS ARRIVAL IN TOLEDO.

A man whose name has been made famous as the great Germ Discoverer of the Present Century.

Has he Discovered the Fountain of Perpetual Youth?

His methods now known as the SCHICK SYSTEM.

Dr. Schick has engaged Parlors at the Hotel Jefferson, where any one desirous of consulting him may do so Monday, March 7, to Thursday, March 31, inclusive.

Consultation, Examination & Treatment FREE.

The time has come when men of genius are being recognized, and wherever they have made any new discovery in art or science that benefits all mankind, the people are ever ready to appreciate it and investigate their claims.

During the last decade many new and valuable discoveries have been made in the healing art, both in this country and in Europe; but none have been more potent and valuable than the late discoveries of the great German physician, Dr. Karl Virchow Schick, in the germ treatment of chronic diseases. So rapidly did the sufferers from all forms of chronic diseases recover under this new treatment that within four months after the discovery was made, sixty-one physicians had purchased his formula, and were using it to the exclusion of all others. Eight months later his fame had spread throughout all Europe as well as this country. The entire medical world is converted to his faith, and 806 physicians have adopted his methods.

Arrangements have already been consummated for building a large Institute bearing his name at Chicago, also a building has been leased for the same purpose at Cincinnati, 103 Garfield Place, and opened to the public Jan. 1st last. The first Institution of the kind was opened in Boston, at 1508 Washington St., a year ago, and so overwhelming a demonstration did Dr. Schick receive from the sick and suffering that he has been encouraged to continue with the results at Cincinnati and Chicago as stated above. So numerous have been the letters of inquiry from every city in Ohio as to how they could obtain this treatment, what it was, and what it would do, Dr. Schick finally consented to adopt the advice of his manager, and make a visit to Toledo, and thus give those who desired an opportunity to see him personally.

It is certainly very gratifying that we are able to state to all our readers that Dr. Karl Virchow Schick will be in Toledo, on Monday, March 7, 1892, and remain until March 31, at the Hotel Jefferson. All those who are suffering from any form of chronic diseases may during the week commencing Monday, March 7, have an opportunity to see and consult with this great scientist, who certainly has astonished the entire German Empire with the discovery that a Germ was the cause of all chronic as well as acute diseases, and that he could entirely remove the same without the knife or any of the old time honored methods.

On his arrival in Boston his fame had so far preceded that all day long during consultation hours the streets about resounded with the rumbling of carriages filled with suffering wealth, fashion and intellect of New England, who mingled with those whose poverty but increased their ills, all bound for the now famous doctor whose scientific knowledge of the microscope had developed the deadly Germ, which through the ignorance of the medical fraternity had carried so many to an untimely grave. Surely in the hands of this doctor the most insidious and mysterious diseases vanish like the winds, and his skill turns the death bed into a pillow of health.

The continually increasing tales of wonder from those who have been cured of Cancer and Consumption in its apparent last stages, Tumors located in any part of the body (without operation), Paralysis, Epilepsy, Scrofula, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Deafness, Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Nervous Prostration, and in fact all chronic and acute diseases, with those peculiar to women, that have long since baffled the time honored remedies, seem to yield like magic to the Schick system. Owing to the large number of persons unable to see the doctor during his stay in the eastern cities, he has consented to lengthen his hours of consultation each day, and can therefore be seen in our city from 10 A. M. to 4 P. M., and 7 to 8 EVE. As these are the only days that can be devoted to this city, it is especially desired that we say to our readers, Dr. Schick has consented to spend the above time at Toledo, but no other city or town will be visited as he returns at once to his Institute in Cincinnati.

For the purpose of extending his already world-wide popularity, Dr. Schick will, commencing March 7, and continuing every day until March 31, give to all those who desire such examination, advice and treatment, as may be indicated in each individual case, entirely free of charge; thus giving sufferers from all forms of chronic diseases personal attention, and thereby all the advantages of this new system, which has worked such marvelous cures in Boston, Cincinnati and vicinity. Although the time and expense to him in giving this free treatment will cost $5000, yet he feels that the number he will treat will be so large, the cures he will make so varied, the good he will do will cover so large a field, that the advertisement will be double what could be obtained with the expenditure of $10,000 in any other way. He also hopes to bring to the notice of all invalids his elegant Sanitarium as well as his special system of practice. All that he asks in return is that every patient treated will appoint themselves a committee of one to state to all their friends the results obtained in their individual cases by the Schick System.

MAN.

Oh, what is man?—a spirit doomed
Awhile on earth to stay?
Immortal mind and soul entombed
Awhile in mortal clay?
A spark of immortality,
Cased in an earthly shrine;
A paradox—a mystery—
Half human, half divine.

And what is life?—a transient ray
Of Heaven's eternal light?
A meteor's flash—a gleam of day
On earth's sepulchral night?
A bubble broken by a breath,
An hour of toil and strife,
A dream from which we're roused by Death
To everlasting life.

And what is death? Man's final doom,
The penalty of sin?
A pang—oblivion—dust—the tomb,
And all we fear therein?
A hideous phantom of the night
That haunts this earthly clod?
Or angel sent from realms of light
To guide us to our God?

—Frank F. Sherriff, in Temple Bar.

There is great danger that the chatelaine fancy will run to a degree of absurdity. Among the latest additions are pin cushion, toilet mirror, postage stamp box, and similar nonsensical articles. Some philanthropic capitalists are about establishing "a summer resort for young men" on the the New Jersey coast. This may be for the purpose of protecting them against leap year attacks. The remarkable instinct which causes the mudfish to roll himself in a ball of mud when the dry season approaches is a wonderful provision of nature, intended solely, is would seem, to prevent the extinction of the species. Doolittle, of Wisconsin.

A traveler in Central Australia has discovered that the surface of the country has been greatly changed by what may appear at first thought a ridiculous agency—the white ants. On plain and in thickets their nests are so numerous that it is difficult to drive among them. The lay with which their nests are built is, when cemented with resinous matter, as hard as brick, and when the nests fall to pieces they form clay flats almost impervious to water and not easily cut up by traffic.

The Indianapolis Journal is correct in the judgment that "as a class women are more saving than men ever think of being," and there is food for thought in the statement of that paper that the building and loan associations of Indianapolis have thousands of women stockholders. Young women, fired with an ambition to own property and have a home of their own, are paying weekly into these associations hundreds of dollars. Many of them have to practice the most rigid economy in order to meet their obligations.

SHE HAD AN EXCLUSIVE

The Morning Squall was a conservative paper of the good old type. It did not believe in so-called "popular" journalism.

It did not believe in women journalists, in spite of the fact that its esteemed contemporaries were supporting a score or more of feminine incumbents.

We, the members of the staff of the Morning Squall, shared to a man—from chief to office boy—the sentiments of the paper in these respects.

We deprecated the "emancipation" of women in our editorials; we frowned upon press women individually and collectively, and the parti-colored countenance of the office-boy of the Crawler (which had two women on its local force) frequently bore witness to the zeal displayed by our devil in supporting our policy.

It was Christmas time—the very day before Christmas, indeed—and the assignment book was never heavier or more hopeless.

Two of the best local men were out, sick, and the city editor was in that desperate condition of mind, bordering upon insanity, which the necessity of covering 50 different events with 10 men induces.

No wonder that when a slip of a girl, with two beseeching brown eyes, looking out of a delicate pale face, with a suggestion, too, of shabbiness in her jacket seams and glove fingers, came into the office and asked in a shrinking, unobtrusive way for something to do, he jumped at the unexpected relief and assigned her to two orphans' homes and the newsboys' dinner on the spot.

So the office girl, as we fell into the habit of calling her, for want of a better name, served up the orphans and newsboys at space rates, and while the holiday season lasted took several gentle ladylike assignments, which she handled in a uniformly neat and expeditious manner.

Being a woman, however, the thought of giving her a permanent position never occurred to any one, and one stormy evening, after she had turned in a long story upon a popular lecture, she was told that the paper didn't require her services any longer and that she might call at the office Monday for whatever was due her.

She looked undeniably disappointed, but she thanked the city editor with a tired little smile for his courtesy, gave a last look round the smoky old room, bowed gravely to the boys, turned up the collar of her thin, shiny black coat and departed.

Down through the dark streets leading to the station, the snow blowing in her face, the wind tearing viciously at her hair and her fluttering garments, trudged the office girl, and a little later leaned a drooping, pathetic, almost despondent figure against a seat in the second passenger coach of the 11:15 train.

The office girl didn't see any of her fellow travelers. She looked out into the darkness, and didn't see that, either.

She was wondering, like the city editor, why she hadn't been born a man.

She had even gone so far as to wonder if there was really any place in the world for a girl who couldn't teach school, hadn't a faculty for selling ribbons, didn't care to manipulate a typewriter, but who yet both needed and desired to earn money, when her speculations were interrupted.

A crash, a noise of splintering glass, the floor rising uncertainly beneath her startled feet, a rush of steam, the shriek of frightened women.

Finally a wrench that threw her violently against a window, breaking it, and letting in a gust of wind that drove the snow across her face, brought her to a consciousness of what had happened.

* * *

It was just 2:45. The last forms would be locked up in 15 minutes, and we who had been working inside a fire-line for the last four hours, dodging falling timbers and evading threatening hose-nozzles, were rushing through our "holocaust" (the technical office term for all fires since the Crawler had run it into the ground in headlines) as fast as possible, spurred on by the night editor.

Save the scratching of pencils and the rustling of paper there wasn't a sound in the city room. Not since the state election had we been so busy.

Into this calm there rushed suddenly—who but the office girl, hatless, almost coatless, breathless, bleeding from a cut on her forehead, suddenly transformed from a shrinking, timid woman into a purposeful one, energetic and commanding.

The entire force arose to its feet, silently, expectantly, the city editor leaning forward with eager interest. It was to him she spoke.

"Accident on the X. Y. road," she said. "Three people killed, seven injured. Wires down. I've got the notes; came all the way from W. in a cab. How much time may I have?"

"Half an hour," replied the city editor, simply consulting the big office clock. "Ten minutes' grace if necessary. Cut that fire short in a column," he added, turning to us.

For 40 long minutes no one would have known that 10 men were bursting with excitement in that office, we all realized so acutely the need of quiet.

But at 3:25, when the last form had been sent down, when the bulletin that was to electrify the street in a few hours was fairly under way, pandemonium reigned. We cheered ourselves hoarse in honor of the little girl that had brought us the "exclusive."

She bore it all very sweetly. It was only when the chief thanked her that she broke down and—cried like a baby!

And this is the reason—a pretty good one you'll admit—that we still have a girl upon the force of the Squall.—Margaret Fairfax in the Chicago Times.

HOOSIER POET, PERSONALLY.

Personally James Whitcomb Riley is one of the most humane, gentle and lovable of men. Everything about him is his own—even to his religion, which is the religion of humanity. In physical stature he is below the average height. His complexion is fair. His hair has never changed from the flaxen whiteness of boyhood. His eyes are large, light blue, wide open and marvelous in their expression. His face is smooth shaven; his attire neat and fashionable. To his friends, to all the associations, interests and memories of life, he is profoundly, patriotically loyal. His devotion to the common life, his faithful sympathy for the under man, his abounding affections for poverty, distress and sorrow, have bound him with hooks of steel to the people of his own state first, after that to the heart of the great west, and then to the soul of American literature, and finally, if we m'stake not, to the abiding love and admiration of mankind.—Book News.

How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy.

NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED,

As a general family remedy for dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever see anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels.

NEGROES GO A GUNNING

For Officers of the Law in the South.

A Bloody Riot in Memphis, Tennessee.

Four White Men Shot and Twenty Black Men Placed in Jail for the Crime.

Memphis, Tenn., March 7.—A serious riot occurred in the negro quarters at midnight Sunday, when a gang of police made an attempt to arrest a gang of colored desperadoes. In the fight that followed Policemen Cole and Yerger were fatally shot and Officer Bob Harrell was so seriously injured that he may die.

The trouble dates back to last Wednesday, when there was a fight between a white man and a negro, the latter accusing the white man of abusing his child. Pistols were drawn and the white man was wounded.

Four deputies last night went out to arrest the man who had done the shooting, and learned that he was in the corner grocery at the Curve. The deputies went into the store, and while talking to the keeper the room seemed to fill with negroes. Suddenly there was a shot, and Deputy Sheriff Clark Cole fell to the floor mortally wounded. This seemed to be the signal, for in an instant the firing became general.

Deputy Bob Harrell went down next with a load of buckshot in his back. The deputies, taken completely by surprise, were unable to return the fire.

At this great disadvantage the remaining two, E. A. Yerger and O. L. Webber, made a feeble attempt to defend themselves, but in a minute they also went to the floor, the former riddled with bird shot and the latter with a charge of buckshot in his legs. The negroes, after firing a large number of shots, made their escape as quickly as they had entered the store. Not a negro was hurt. No arrests have been made.

Twenty negroes have been placed under arrest by the authorities. Those arrested include Calvin McDowell, manager of the co-operative store, where the shooting took place, and Tom Moss, a letter carrier, who are believed to have been the ring leaders in the affair. Josh Shields, who shot Deputies Harrold and Yerger, is still at large.

The trouble resulted from the existence of a nest of most turbulent and unruly negroes living at and near the neighborhood of the "Curve," where Mississippi avenue emerges into the Hernando road.

For years this locality has been notorious for the character of the negroes residing there, and of late they have been more turbulent than ever before. A short time ago a negro youth named Armour Harris assaulted the child of Cornelius Hurst, an express messenger. Hurst caught Armour and thrashed him. Other negroes interfered and Hurst clubbed one of them.

Last Wednesday night the negroes assembled at the curve and were very riotous. W. R. Barrett, who runs a grocery, tried to quiet them, and was set upon and clubbed and shot at, several bullets passing through his clothing. The assault occurred in the "People's Grocery," an establishment owned by a stock company of negroes and run by Calvin McDowell. McDowell was arrested Thursday and gave bond for his appearance at the criminal court. Since then the negroes have been holding secret meetings and evidently preparing for trouble.

Yesterday they boasted to the white residents that no deputy sheriff dare attempt to arrest them. The white people were uneasy, and three families left their homes and moved to town. Judge Duboise was appealed to and he issued a bench warrant for Armour Harris and Will Stuart and instructed the officers of his court to get assistance and arrest the negroes, also to suppress any riotous assembly around the Curve. The three officers called on nine other men, most of them deputy sheriffs, and proceeded at 10 o'clock last night to the scene of the recent disturbance.

Everything seemed quiet at the Curve, but when the posse entered Barrett's store he told the members to be careful when they entered the People's grocery, as they might be ambushed. The officers thought Barrett was unnecessarily alarmed, but they took the precaution to divide, and one party went to the back door of the negro grocery.

Perkins, Harrold and Yerger, of the posse, went to the front door. Calvin McDowell was pacing up and down the floor. Several other negroes were standing behind the counter. Perkins asked McDowell if Will Stuart was there.

"He is in the back room," replied McDowell.

Perkins entered the back room, leaving Cole, Harrold and Yerger standing in the front door.

As Perkins walked into the back room he was greeted by a volley of shots, the other deputies at the same instant entering the back door. These men supposed the fighting had begun in front and charged on a group of negroes who were partly concealed by a screen. The negroes were armed with shotguns but the officers closed in on them and used their pistols as clubs, having no idea that their comrades had been shot down. In a minute the negroes in the back room had dropped their guns and fled.

No sooner had the negroes behind the counter in the front room heard the posse enter from behind than they lifted shotguns that they had concealed behind the counter and fired on the deputies in front. Each of the three officers were struck in the face or head. Cole was desperately wounded. One of his eyes was shot out but he strove gamely while calling for help to draw his pistol and return the fire. The weapon, however, caught in his pocket, and he ran into the street where he fell. The other officers were slightly wounded, although Harrold has a dangerous hole in his head. The police station at once dispatched a squad to the scene, where a few arrests were made. The balance of the arrests were made to-day without trouble. Cole is still alive but his condition is critical. It is thought the others will recover.

New York, May 8, 1883.

Several times this winter I have suffered from severe colds on my lungs. Each time I have applied Allcock's Porous Plasters, and in every instance I have been quickly relieved by applying one across my chest and one on my back. My friends, through my advice, have tried the experiment and also found it most successful. I feel that I can recommend them most highly to anyone who may see fit to try them.

HENRY COUNTY COURTS.

Chas. Walker Found Guilty of Assault,

A Father and Son Tried For Abusing An Employe—Horse Stealing Case—General Mention.

Napoleon, March 7.—(Special)—George and Charles Walker, father and son and proprietors of a stave factory at Holgate, were indicted by the grand jury for assault and battery on the person of Mat Brown, one of the employes, and the case tried in common pleas court.

The evidence went to show that Chas. Walker, during an altercation with the prosecuting witness, struck him a blow on the head with a scantling. The evidence also showed that the blow was struck from behind, and that old man Walker urged him to strike the blow.

The jury after remaining out all day and part of the night rendered a verdict of guilty in the case of Chas. Walker and not guilty touching on that of the father.

The judge reserved sentence until next Thursday.

The case of the State of Ohio v. Chas. Schmidt for horse stealing, was tried in common pleas court and a verdict returned of not guilty. The verdict gives general satisfaction.

The married ladies of Napoleon have planned a leap year ball for Tuesday evening the 9th, at the Pythian hall. It promises to be one of the social events of the season.

Henry county roads were never in a worse condition than now. Notwithstanding that thousands of dollars have been paid out in the construction of gravel roads, the present long stretch of foul weather has even knocked the bottom out of the pikes.

This is so with all excepting stone roads. Traveling has become an impossibility and farmers living 14 miles from town would rather, and do, make the distance on foot, than by team.

Another siege of this weather and the whole county will rise up in one universal howl for stone roads at any cost.

POLITICAL EQUALITY CLUB.

Semi-Monthly Session Held Saturday Afternoon.

Interesting Parliamentary Drill—Mrs. C. Q. Murphy Discusses the Suffrage Question, Placing Some Blame on Women—Educational Statistics.

At the residence of Mrs. Rinehart on Locust street, the members of the Political Equality club held their semi-monthly meeting Saturday afternoon. Mrs. C. Q. Murphy presided, and after the usual readings and reports the parliamentary drill on committee work was conducted. The program was very simple, the assembly going into a committee of the whole, for the purpose of giving opportunity for freer discussion of the question before the meeting. The debate was an animated one, but perhaps its most noticeable feature was the orderly manner in which it was conducted. There are no "all-talking-at-once" seances, but a strict observance of parliamentary usages in all the exercises.

At the conclusion of the drill Mrs. Murphy addressed the meeting on the subject that is of special interest to all Ohio women suffragists just now—the Doty bill. The bill was not acted on justly or honestly, and it is not at all probable that its reconsideration will meet any better fate. This is the fault of the women themselves. A handful of women here and a small body there can never obtain school suffrage for the women of Ohio, or full suffrage for the women of these United States. But when they have become thoroughly organized, when they shall rise en masse and demand equal rights, then will their demands be granted, and not before. Some interesting facts relative to the common schools of Ohio, were given, taken from the annual report of State School Commissioner Miller. The number of school houses in the state is 12,423, estimated value of school property, $30,215,356; money expended for sites, buildings and furniture in 1891, $1,271,522.94; amount paid for supervision, $181,925.93; salary of teachers, $6,890,353.70; paid on bonded indebtedness, $770,111.29; paid for all other expenses, $2,229,020.29; total expenditures for school purposes, $11,342,934.15; number of children of school age, 1,132,667; number attending school, 737,352; number of pupils enrolled in high schools, 28,788; number of teachers employed, 29,095; average monthly salaries of teachers, males, $55, females, $45; number of persons applying for certificates to teach, 66,197, of whom 39,391 were successful and 26,808 failed to pass. In Toledo the monthly salaries of teachers are: elementary, males, $77, females $45; high school, males $130, females $70.

Committees were then appointed to report on the work of the president and cabinet, congress, foreign affairs and the state legislature, and also a committee to prepare a program for the next parliamentary drill, which will be on organization. There being no further business the meeting closed to meet Saturday afternoon, March 19, at 4 o'clock with Mrs. Edward Quigley, 423 Tenth street.

Little Elsie Leslie in Prince and Pauper

Opens at Wheeler's To-Night—Gus Hill's Novelties—Bernhardt's Engagement.

Elsie Leslie will appear at Wheeler's to-night in Daniel Frohman's production of "The Prince and the Pauper," a dramatization by Mrs. Abby Sage Richardson of Mark Twain's quaint story of that name. The interest lies in the generous acts of a kind hearted boy suddenly placed in a position of great power. The magnificence of life at a Tudor court also contributes materially to the charm of the piece.

There are many touching and beautiful scenes in the play. Its teachings are pure and wholesome. It demonstrates stronger than words that a change of clothes does not bring about a change of character, and it is a strong illustration of the truth of Burns' immortal line, "A man's a man for a' that." It teaches us that true nobility of heart and mind will assert itself, whether the possessor be clothed in the purple and fine linen of royalty or the tattered garb of the pauper. It teaches further that none without these qualities can assume the position and discharge the functions of those who do possess them, even though his raiment be that of royalty.

It is a sweet, ennobling play, and one whose effect for good on the minds of youth is not excelled by any ever written.

Elsie Leslie, who plays the double role of Tom Canty, the Pauper, and Edward Tudor, the Prince, is spoken of as one of the sweetest young actresses ever known. Mark Twain has found his own little fairy prince and honest pauper embodied in her. The company supporting her is the same as appeared during the long run of the play at the Broadway theater, New York.

At the People's.

Gus Hill's World of Novelties opens at the People's to-night for a week's engagement. The Newark Journal speaks of them as follows:

Gus Hill's World of Novelties at Waldmann's last evening presented such an enjoyable variety program that constant and uproarious laughter predominated the entire audience. The favorites Field and Hanson were never in better form, and their act called forth one continual outburst of praise. Huber and Allyne, eccentric comedian and vocalist, made a great hit, as did also Al Reeves with his banjo. Estelle Wellington and Annie Wilmuth, two pleasing vocalists, received much praise. Gus Hill as a club swinger has no superiors. Marion and Keen, Mason and Ralston, and the Two Judges were equally good in their specialties. One of the most laughable of comedies concluded the entertainment."

Bernhardt.

The sale of seats for Bernhardt's performance Friday will open at Holmes' drug store to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock.

La Tosca is by far the strongest play in Mme. Bernhardt's repertoire, and the character is probably the strongest one written in this century. The story is founded on historical facts, but the great Sardou has given full scope to his vivid imagination with wonderful results. The play will be staged with two carloads of scenery and appointments.

Mr. Henry E. Abbey, of Abbey & Graw, accompanies Mme. Bernhardt in her travels, and superintends the working of every department.

"Sire, prove that you can make yourself obeyed."

"How so?"

"Sire, Garibaldi has violated the laws of the country. He must be arrested in the midst of his troops."

"And who will undertake this?"

"I, Your Majesty," replied Menabrea.

The king, after a few moments' reflection, consented.

A royal order was issued to Garibaldi to follow the bearer, who had received secret instructions. Garibaldi received Gen. Menabrea in the midst of his insurrectionary troops, and not willing or not venturing to put himself in open rebellion against the king followed Menabrea without knowing whither he was going, treated, of course, with the greatest deference.

He entered a train which was guarded by a considerable force, four carabineers occupying the compartment with him. At one station Garibaldi, who now knew what was in store for him, asked leave to alight, and having done so tried in the dark to escape through the hedge alongside of the line. He was re-captured, however, and taken back to the compartment and conveyed safe and sound to the old fortress prison at Varignano, at the extremity of the Gulf of Spezia.

Next day Victor Emmanuel wrote to Napoleon III that he had had Garibaldi arrested and imprisoned, and that he both could and would make himself obeyed throughout his kingdom.

The king in showing this letter to Menabrea exclaimed: "You can now affirm that you have helped me to save the unity of Italy, and you may cherish the proud and imperishable remembrance of this great act."—New York Recorder.

CURRENT TOPICS.

An almond grower of this locality hit upon a neat device for gathering his crop last fall, says the Sutler City Enterprise. His trees bore largely, and this early became known to the yellowhammers, a species of the woodpecker tribe of birds, and they had regularly stored away large quantities of ripe nuts taken from the orchard in the limb of an oak tree near by. The astute orchardist watched operations, and at last hit upon a novel nut and labor saving plan, and he lost no time in putting it into execution.

The limb was sawed from the tree and replaced by a square-shaped funnel long enough to nearly reach the ground; a bucket was then set underneath. A genuine robbing game then went merrily on. The birds gatherd the nuts, which they dropped into the funnel and down into the bucket below, and as regularly as night came the almond grower would in his turn empty it of its contents and set it back for a new supply. This was kept up until the entire crop had been gathered, and the yellowhammers had departed broken-hearted at the heartless deception practiced upon them.

"The recently exposed scheme through which the Indan ring realized a profit of $635,896 through the shrewd but questionable manipulation of the rights of the ignorant Choctaws and Chickasaws," says Maurice P. James, "was entirely legitimate when compared with the Indian Home Guard deal, which was successfully negotiated in June, 1865. It was quite as successfully covered up, too, a few months later, by an obliging congressional investigating committee. I was a clerk in the paymaster's department when the First, Second and Third regiments of the Indian Home Guards were mustered out and paid off."

"I know that no such regiments ever existed, and that the $200,000 presumably paid to them was stolen absolutely and wholly by the Indian ring of those days. Not one line concerning this outrageous piece of business ever occurred in print, and I believe that one Indian agent, a leader of the ring, is now an imbecile at Washington."

"The other day a real smart young man came aboard," said Capt. Leale of the El Capitan, 'and he came up to chat with myself and two young ladies before the boat started. Next to the ladies sat a Chinaman. The smart young man began to nod toward the blue-bloused heathen and make all sorts of grimaces. He kept up his pantomime for some time, showing off before those girls in the endeavor to establish a reputation for dare-devil fun. The Chinaman eyed him with that stolidity which the race has accumulated through generations of starvation. Finally my o'er-bright friend tired of his monkey shines and said:

"'Just watch me have some fun with that Chinaman.'

"'Oh, no; you'll not have any fun with me,' answered the brown man in English. 'All the smartness left that bright youth. He was the cheapest buy on the human market. It was the first time I had ever seen him done up. He reddened, became all hands and feet, and silently stole away, stepping on himself as he went.

"'I think I had more fun with him than he had with me,' remarked the Chinaman. 'Rather a tiresome young man, don't you think?'"—San Francisco Examiner.

"A postage stamp is a pretty small basis for a successful swindle, isn't it?" asked one of Uncle Sam's postoffice inspectors, says the Chicago Mail. "Well, within the last two or three years several very successful stamp swindles have been worked in this country. Of course, you understand, the fraud lies not in the stamps but in the means by which they are obtained. It is a fact worthy of note, perhaps, that the United States postage never has been counterfeited. I am at a loss to account for this, but it is true, nevertheless—no counterfeit United States stamps ever have been discovered. The average citizen looks upon a stamp as a very insignificant thing. Therefore it is not strange that when a philanthropic New Yorker awhile ago asked contributions of stamps to aid him in sending red flannel shirts to the poor benighted heathen of Boorioboola Gha, or to carry out some other project of that sort, the stamps began to pour in from all parts of the country. The postal authorities at New York soon became aware that several stamp schemes were being industriously conducted and all of them had this feature in common: Some grand reformatory undertaking was to be accomplished as soon as 1,000,000 stamps should be collected. I remember that one of the promises held out was the education of a Chinese girl for every 1,000,000 stamps which were sent to some 'reverend' or other in New York. Finally the reverend gentleman was located and was given a penitentiary sentence for obtaining money by false pretenses. In Chicago only a few months ago an enterprising citizen made a good income for awhile by advertising for an office boy, requiring each applicant to inclose 'stamp for answer.'"

The limit of man's capacity for speed and endurance in travel under given conditions is a matter of record, but who has not witnessed the almost ceaseless activity of a child and been led to exclaim, "I wonder how far that child has traveled to-day?"

A gentleman in Pittsburg recently attempted to answer this query in an ingenious way. He had the floor of his nursery covered with white muslin. He then strapped to the ankle of an 18-months' child a "marker" consisting of an inkpad, that made a plain mark for every step taken.

The child was allowed to roam about and amuse itself as usual, and at night the marks were counted. There were the almost incredible number of 6,483 marks, which, allowing 6 inches to each step, make the sum of the day's journeyings 3,242 feet, or almost three-fourths of a mile.

The child was probably not above the average in point of activity and endurance and its feat was only that of many another little one whose mother finds it dropping asleep in her arms at night before the night gown can be coaxed over its head, while the older members of the family wonder "what makes baby so cross and tired to-night."

The gentleman next experimented with his boy of 9 years, who was out of school and in a community affording space and attractions for rambling. He purchased a pedometer, an instrument for measuring distances walked, on the principle of the syclometre, used for measuring the distance traveled in a buggy or on a bicycle. This he managed to get into the bottom of the boy's pocket among the marbles, nails, twine, knives and other bric-a-brac there collected. Its additional weight was not noticed for a few days, and in that time it did its work.

The first day the instrument registered 9 1-8 miles, and the boy was at the table for every meal; the second day's record was 10 3-7 miles; the third, a rainy day, 7 1-2; the fourth, 9 8-17.

The family was astonished at the result, and thereafter when any one complained of a walk of a mile or so nobody poo-poohed louder than Bob. One other noticeable result was that Bob got his monthly pair of shoes without the usual lecture on the sin of wearing them out so fast.—Pittsburg Commercial-Gazette.

Millionaires who are being pursued by wildeyed cranks might find food for reflection in the fact that Peter Cooper, who was a very rich man, was never molested by bombthrowers. He was a man always accessible to the great American public and a stranger who dropped into his office, even though he carried a plethoric carpet-sack struck no terror to his heart.

George Peabody was another gentleman abundantly blessed with the riches of this world who was not obliged to dodge the dynamite fiend. Stephen Girard was another.

Coming down to gentlemen who are alive and active in the world's affairs, Baron Hirsch is conspicuous as a rich man who seems to enjoy perfect immunity from cranks. The baron is worth $100,000,000 according to popular estimate—and his expenditures in behalf of his fellow-men in a measure verify these figures—yet there has been no attempt to cut short his career. Those of our American rich men who are still alive and have endowed colleges and otherwise helped humanity have not yet been blown up. What is more, they appear to be in no danger.

Our rich men, looking about for security—no reference to commercial security—might give this some thought.—New York Advertiser.

Dr. E. T. Miller, of Cross Plains, Wis., has expressed the opinion that, for obstinate cases of syphilis and scrofula, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the most effective remedy known to pharmacy. Wonderful cures have resulted from its use.

ADJUSTING COAL RATES.

A Word or Two Regarding the Situation.

J. M. Ferris and A. G. Blair Say Something—Another Meeting to be Held Monday Next.

General Manager J. M. Ferris, of the Ohio Central lines, who presided at the recent coal meeting in Pittsburg, has returned home. To a Bee this morning he said that in all probability there would be no change in coal rates from those in vogue last season. He saw no good reason for an advance or a reduction. General Manager A. G. Blair, of the Wheeling, was also at the meeting. "Nothing was done at the recent meeting," he said. "We decided that the question of rates for the coming season should be decided at a joint meeting of the coal producers and the coal carriers, and such a meeting will be held Monday next. It looks to me as if rates would be the same as last year."

Notwithstanding the remarks of the above gentlemen, and while the probabilities are that the matter of rates will be amicably settled, still there is some cause for alarm, as the Pennsylvania company shows a desire to reduce the rate from the Pittsburg district. If this is done, a war in coal rates would result, and all coal roads would suffer to some extent.

The outcome of Monday's meeting will be watched with interest.

Lake Lines and Business.

General Manager Ferris, of the Ohio Central, says that the company will probably load some vessels with lake coal the latter part of this month.

A. W. Colton, general manager of the Wabash line of boats, said this morning he thought that the boats could commence to move and would move on Lake Erie the first of next month.

General Freight Agent W. S. Weed, of the Clover Leaf, thought that their boats would be running by the middle of April.

The Wheeling & Lake Erie will commence loading boats the latter part of this month.

The Toledo, Ann Arbor & North Michigan railroad has issued a handsome 114-page souvenir of the road. It contains many fine pictures of Toledo and vicinity, and of other cities on the line. It is a book well worth preserving, and those who receive a copy will be fortunate.

MURDEROUS ASSAULT

Made by Dr. Scudder on Another Patient.

Queer Action by the Man Who is Locked Up Charged with Murdering His Mother-in-Law.

Chicago, March 7.—Dr. Henry M. Scudder, accused of the murder of Mrs. F. H. Dunton, his mother-in-law, has attempted to kill a fellow patient in the Detention hospital.

The two patients had been tramping the corridor as they had done all day. Dr. Scudder entered his cell, grasped a chair, and, as his victim passed the cell door, hit him on the head with it.

Before he could repeat the blow the attendants came to the rescue and after a fierce struggle the doctor was overpowered and placed in irons.

He accuses his fellow-patient of being in league with his wife to convict him of murder.

HE'S 89 TO-DAY.

George Kennan's Father Celebrates a Birthday.

Norwalk, O., March 7.—(Special)—John Kennan, the venerable father of George Kennan, the distinguished lecturer and traveler, who has been spending the winter in Norwalk, his old home, reached his 89th birthday to-day.

He was born in Waterbury, Vt., March 7th, 1803, and is the oldest telegraph operator in the United States.

He had charge of the office in this city until he was over 80 years of age.

IT WAS A CAT.

A Horrible Smell Was There, My Countrymen,

For a Cat, a Dead and Rotten Cat Had Chased Everybody From the St. Clair School Building.

"Hello, is this Smead's?"

"Yes, what's wanted?"

"We want somebody to come right over to the St. Clair school building. There's something the matter with the closets, and sewer gas is all over the building, and everybody had to leave the building. Come right now, please."

That information was a stumper; the Isaac D. Smead people knew the fault couldn't be with their odorless closets, and it wasn't pleasant to have foreign smells charged to their account.

A superintendent was immediately dispatched to the noisome place and was nearly knocked down himself by the fearful stench. But a few minutes inspection revealed the cause of all the trouble. A cat, a big, yowling, back-yard cat, had crawled into the cold air duct to die, and had made a success of the act. Perhaps Tommy had a spite against the school boys and had taken revenge in this loud smelling manner. His deceased catship was far gone, even unto rottenness, when the Smead man pulled him out of the cold air passage. Immediately nature did the rest and pure air soon deodorized the duct, the flues and the rooms, and the St. Clair building was as fresh and sweet and pure as ever. This is one of the strong points of the Smead system. Give pure air a chance, and ventilation is absolutely perfect.

London, March 7.—The Daily News, commenting on the Bering sea troubles, says: "The renewal of the close season will cost the government considerable compensation to the Canadian fishermen which we are bound to pay. It has been suggested that a crosswalk be placed at the intersection of Monroe street, Lawrence and Grand avenues. This has been a place of neglect, and the city fathers would confer a favor upon those who daily have to pass that point, either going or coming down Monroe street, by having it attended to.

The executive committee of the State Sunday School association is called to meet in Lima to-morrow to make arrangements for the annual convention in June. Dr. McGaw, Marion Lawrance and L. B. Lake, of this city, are members of the committee, and are expected at the meeting.

Rev. A. Wilcox, of Cleveland, corresponding secretary of the Ohio Christian Missionary society, who was announced to preach Tuesday evening at Eleventh Street Church of Chirst, cannot be here until Wednesday morning.

Trustees of the Central Ohio M. E. conference meet to-morrow at Marion. Rev. Ersham Lease, of Defiance, is chairman, and Rev. C. W. Taneyhill, of Bryan, secretary. Rev. Dr. Fish, of Toledo, is one of the trustees, and will attend the session. The boundary commission appointed at the last conference in this city also meet at Marion to-morrow.

The Toledo Laundry Co., 332 Summit.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Toledo Traveling Men's association held Saturday evening, twenty new members were initiated. This is the largest initiation at one time that they have ever had. It was decided to move their headquarters to the second floor of the building occupied by the Toledo Business college.

THE NEW "LIVINGSTON."

Grand Rapids, Michigan, has always been noted for its fine hostelries. "The Morton," "Sweet's," and others are names that sound good to the lovers of home-like and well-kept taverns. Now "The New Livingston," in its lovely location and imposing architecture, looms up in all its grandeur to the weary traveler, whose stay while there will be made pleasant by the gentlemanly proprietors, Messrs. H. D. and F. H. Irish.

Although this house has but recently been thrown open to the public, it is enjoying a most excellent run of business. Prominent people from all parts of the states and Canada speak highly of the management and the general excellence of the place, while many of Grand Rapids' best people enjoy its charming attractions.

No doubt many people of Toledo and surrounding country will be pleased to "put up" at "The New Livingston" when in the "Valley City," or when on their way to the resorts of Northern Michigan the coming summer.

DO NOT WEAR EYEGLASSES.

The women of Texas are slow in taking up fads. They are not up to their sisters of Kansas in any of the newfangled fashions. You can travel in Texas, the best portions of it, for a week, and never see a dress or bonnet or a hat that reminds you of anything you ever saw in a fashion plate. Some of the women are well dressed, it must be admitted so far as material is concerned, but there is no such thing about them as our women in the North call style. Their gowns are severely plain. In the North a woman crossing a wet street crossing deftly raises the hem of her garments from the rear, and thus avoids the slush. The Texas woman grabs her skirts by the sides and lifts them in the way her great-grandmother did. There is another thing about the Texas woman that is noticeable. She never wears glasses. It is not meant, of course, that no woman in Texas wears glasses, but the exceptions are rare. In the North, even in Kansas, which is made up of Northern people, one cannot travel a mile without seeing more women with glasses than those who do not wear them. The Texas women have no literary look in this respect. Perhaps it is just as well. A woman with a sunbonnet on her head, or with her dress held up by the sides, would not look well in glasses. —Chicago Daily Tribune.

SECRET OF GOOD MEMORY.

Whatever may be said in regard to training the memory, it must be remembered that memory is not, as used to be supposed, an independent faculty of the mind that in some mysterious way may be directly strengthened by exercise, as the blacksmith strengthens his arm; but that memory as retentive is due to the plasticity of nerve-substance, and to the property of nerve-centers by which they retain in growth their functional modifications; and that recollection depends upon physiological conditions such as the cerebral circulation and the proper functioning of nerve-cells; moreover, that a complete act of recollection is a complex process involving comparison, inference, and the like. Hence, whatever in general is conducive to vigorous health, and whatever tends to habits of clear and orderly thinking—such conditions will aid recollection. And whatever is detrimental to the normal functioning of the nerve-cells—fatigue, intense emotion, or the like—and whatever blinds the judgment, will hinder recollection. In short, all psychological beatitudes are on the head of him who has good health, sane emotions, and trained power of attention. But no amount of study, nor all the prescriptions of mnemonic doctors, from Simonides to Loisette (except so far as they train attention) can atone for anaemia of body or lack of the power of attention.—Scribner.
